Oppn stalls Parliament on SIR; double standards, says govt

LoP in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, Samajwadi Party MP Akhilesh Yadav, RJD MP Misa Bharti, DMK MP Kanimozhi Karunanidhi and others during a protest | PTI

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

PARLIAMENT logjam continued for the second day on Tuesday amid protests by the Opposition demanding a discussion on the poll roll revision in Bihar. However, the government accused the opposition of employing 'double standards' by asking for a debate but still disrupting the House.

The Lok Sabha witnessed chaotic scenes as Opposition members refused to budge from their demand of discussion on the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) exercise in Bihar ahead of assembly polls later this year. As Congress, TMC and DMK MPs stood up raising placards, Speaker Om Birla adjourned the House till noon.

Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju said it was agreed on Monday that Pahalgam would be discussed. "Only the rule under which discussion will take place to be decided," he added.

Earlier, INDIA bloc members led by Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi protested at the Makar Dwar of Parliament.

The Upper House also saw two adjournments during the pre-lunch period, before it was finally adjourned within minutes of meeting at 2 pm.

Soon after the House met for the day, Opposition members were on their feet demanding discussions on Operation Sindoor in the presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, besides on the Bihar SIR issue.

Ghanshyam Tiwari, who was chairing the proceedings, informed the House regarding a notification by the Ministry of Home Affairs conveying resignation of Vice President Jagdeep Dhankhar with immediate effect.

Prez poser: All states get SC's notice on bill assent timeline

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday agreed to examine a Presidential reference that seeks the court's opinion on questions concerning the roles, powers, and timelines for governors and the President in according assent to bills passed by state legislatures.

A five-judge Constitution bench, headed by Chief Justice B R Gavai and comprising Justices Surya Kant, Vikram Nath, PS Narasimha and AS Chandurkar, issued notice to the Centre and all states and sought their responses by July 29 on the question whether timelines could be imposed for dealing with bills passed by assemblies. The court fixed the matter for further hearing to August 29.

During the hearing, when senior advocate P Wilson, for Tamil Nadu, submitted that the matter would directly affect his client, who objected to the maintainability of the reference, the CJI said, "The issue concerns not only TN but the entire country." Senior lawyer K K Venugopal, representing Kerala, raised objections regarding its maintainability too. On April 8, a two-judge bench comprising justices J B Pardiwala and R Mahadevan, while hearing TN's case against its governor, ruled that a governor does not possess any discretion under Article 200 in respect to any bill presented to them and must mandatorily abide by the advice tendered by the council of ministers. President Murmu moved the court on May 13, with 14 questions challenging the SC's April 8 verdict that fixed timelines for governors and President to act on bills passed by state assemblies.

Murmu's reference

The reference sought, among others, answers on options before a Governor when a Bill is presented under Article 200; and if they are bound by aid and advice of the council of ministers

KARPOORI THAKUR'S SON LEADS V-P RACE

NDA plans to play the BC card on Dhankhar's successor

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

A day after Vice President Jagdeep Dhankhar suddenly resigned citing health reasons, the NDA weighed options to field a candidate from the backward or extremely backward classes as his successor.

Several NDA MPs, speaking on condition of anonymity, confirmed that the ruling alliance is leaning toward a nominee from the backward communities. Among the names doing the rounds, Ram Nath Thakur — currently Minister of State for Agriculture and son of former Bihar chief minister and Bharat Ratna awardee Karpoori Thakur — is being seen as a frontrunner. Belonging to the Nai (barber) community, which falls under the ati-pichhara category, Thakur's candidacy is seen as a nod to caste dynamics ahead of upcoming elections.

Also reportedly in the mix is BJP president J P Nadda. Senior party leaders suggest that a cabinet reshuffle may precede any formal announcement, should Nadda emerge as the chosen one. Other contenders include former Rajasthan CM Vasundhara Raje, Bihar Governor Md. Arif Khan, former Union minister Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi and Rajya Sabha Deputy Chairman Harivansh.

While speculation briefly hovered over Bihar CM Nitish Kumar, JD(U) insiders were quick to dismiss it. "This doesn't seem to be happening," a senior party leader said.

With the NDA commanding 422 MPs across both Houses, it has a comfortable cushion over the 394 votes required to elect the next V-P. Government sources indicated a preference for a consensus candidate, with a decision expected after July 26.

Dhankhar's abrupt resignation came hours after he admitted an Opposition-backed motion seeking the removal of Justice Yashwant Varma, currently under scrutiny following a major cash seizure at his residence.

Outgoing V-P Jagdeep Dhankhar

Some believe his decision to admit the motion may have conflicted with the government's own strategy, which was reportedly focused on a separate course of action. The Rajya Sabha notice, signed by 63 Opposition MPs and admitted by Dhankhar, instructed the Secretary General to initiate procedural steps — a move seen by some as independent and possibly at odds with the ruling party's preference of joint motion as it was in the Lok Sabha.

Adding fuel to the fire was the absence of ministers Nadda and Kiren Rijiju from the Business Advisory Committee meeting chaired by Dhankhar on Monday. "The V-P was visibly upset," said a senior Opposition figure, also pointing to a tense moment during a debate when Nadda reportedly remarked, "Only what I say will go on record" — a statement seen by some as undermining the Chair. Nadda later refuted any rift.

Full term for new V-P

His successor shall serve a full term in office. Article 67 says, "The Vice-President shall hold office for a term of five years from the date on which he enters upon his office."

Poll asap: Article 68

According to Article 68, an election to the post of V-P because of his death, resignation, removal or otherwise shall be held as soon as possible after the occurrence of the vacancy

32-day process

The process starts after the EC notifies the vacancy and ends in 32 days. Its electoral college comprises Lok Sabha & Rajya Sabha MPs

NCBS STUDY

Pesticide overuse fuels drastic drop in bird species

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

INCREASING and unregulated use of chemicals like insecticides and pesticides – especially neonicotinoids – and change in agricultural patterns have drastically affected grassland bird species across India. This is compromising soil nutrient cycle, pollination, seed dispersal and eco-system engineering in which the threatened bird species play a key role. This is bound to have an adverse impact on public health ultimately, says a study by Bengaluru-based National Centre for Biological Sciences (NCBS).

The NCBS researchers point out that avian species are not just aesthetically important, but are valuable tools in the large food-chain and agricultural pattern. They feed on insects, bees and other pests. They noted that while many western countries have banned the use of pesticides and fertilizers, unregulated usage continues in India, affecting local and migratory bird species.

Similar is the case with the continued use of banned drugs like the Diclofenac and non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs) - painkillers given to cattle and consumed by humans. This has forced a drastic decline in populations of all six Indian vulture species.

Neonicotinoids are a class of insecticides chemically similar to nicotine, and are being rampantly used in agriculture and veterinary medicine. They are absorbed by plants and transported throughout their tissues, including pollen and nectar. CONTINUED ON P5

Long-term decline in 204 bird species

Researchers assessed the status of 942 bird species. The report highlighted that 204 bird species suffered long-term decline and 142 species were facing a current decline

HC notice to NHAI over toll at Nagasandra

PIL says though flyover is within city limits, ₹40 being deducted

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court has issued notice to the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) and the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways in response to a public interest litigation filed by a city-based advocate, alleging that toll is being collected at Nagasandra illegally.

A division bench of Chief Justice Vibhu Bakhru and Justice CM Joshi issued the notice after hearing the petition filed by AV Amarnathan.

The petitioner stated that he has to cross the flyover at Nagasandra to reach the city from his house on Huskur Road in Dasanapura hobli of Nelamangala taluk. Though the flyover is within the city limits, Rs 40 is being deducted by NHAI as toll fee, which is illegal.

When he visited the office of NHAI, officials there refused to give any clarification. They also refused to reply to his application filed under the Right to Information Act, Amarnathan alleged.

Century Club is public authority under RTI Act, upholds high court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday declared that the Century Club is a public authority under the Right to Information (RTI) Act.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order dismissing a petition filed by Century Club, questioning the order passed by the Karnataka Information Commission (KIC) declaring the club as a public authority.

Advocate S Umapathy had filed the application to the club, seeking certain documents under the RTI Act in 2012, and the club in November of the same year informed him that it is not a public authority as defined under Section 2(4) of the Act, and therefore, there is no necessity to furnish the said information to him.

Against this, Umapathy moved the KIC in 2013 on the ground that the Maharaja of Mysore, having provided a free grant of 7.5 acres of land abutting Cubbon Park to Century Club, amounts to substantial indirect finance by the state and therefore, the club would be covered under the RTI Act.

However, the Century Club contended before the KIC that though the land had been granted by the then Maharaja of Mysore, the same cannot be construed as substantially financing the club, which is an independent society, and it cannot come within the purview of the RTI Act.

Rejecting it, the KIC on March 14, 2018, passed the order impugned, directing the club to furnish the information. Therefore, the club moved the HC in 2018.

Single-use plastic ban: Experts want units closed

WITH the BBMP's ban on use of single-use plastics turning out to be ineffective, experts now want the civic body to persuade the State and Union governments to shut down the factories manufacturing single-use plastics.

Solid Waste Management Expert V Ramprasad said that Bengaluru is using single-use plastics, as if there is no ban on them. "The key to any successful ban lies in its implementation. Here for name's sake, BBMP announced a ban", Ramprasad said. He said the BBMP did not pursue the ban to see the city free from single-use plastics.

Founder member of Bengaluru Praja Vedike, NS Mukunda, said, "In 2016, the BBMP imposed a ban on single-use plastics but hardly cared to enforce it."

Ramprasad and Mukunda said the BBMP should target the manufacturing units first and then only the vendors who use the banned plastics.

They also blamed the attitude of the public, who expect plastic bags for anything they buy, without worrying about the environmental hazards.

"BBMP may not have the full power to shut down industries. But it can certainly work with other departments like the Pollution Control Board, State Government and the Union Government to get them shut by fixing a cut-off date, giving enough time for the industries and those who depend on them to shift", Mukunda suggested.

Almitra Patel, a member of the Supreme Court Committee for Solid Waste Management and a national expert on the Swachh Bharat Mission, said that a ban cannot be a success unless the public is given sufficient alternatives to single-use plastic, as they will continue to rely on it. Almitra said the alternatives should also be economical.

When TNIE took up the issue with BBMP Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao, he accepted that the civic body is receiving many complaints related to single-use plastic in the city. "We are enforcing the ban by carrying out raids", Rao said, adding that they are planning to curb the single-use plastics at the source.

"We will request the factories and industries to stop manufacturing single-use plastics," Rao said. He added that they will be working with Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) to tackle the menace.

CMRS begins inspection of Metro Yellow Line

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Commissioner of Metro Rail Safety (CMRS) began inspecting the long-awaited Yellow Line of Namma Metro, which stretches 19.15 km from RV Road to Bommasandra, on Tuesday. The inspection follows the receipt of the Independent Safety Assessment (ISA) report by Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL), marking a key milestone before commissioning.

On the first day, the CMRS covered Reach 5 and completed a fourth of the inspection. BMRCL Chief Public Relations Officer Yashwant Chavan said, "The inspection will be completed in the next 3-4 days," adding that once the CMRS clears the line, final authorisation for passenger services will be granted.

When asked about which stations would become operational, he said, "That will be decided after the CMRS gives its authorisation report."

The CMRS inspection is the final step before the Yellow Line becomes operational, bringing the long-delayed project closer to reality. Originally set for completion in 2021, the project has faced multiple delays over the years.

Commenting on the delay, Bengaluru Central MP PC Mohan said, "CMRS inspection of the Yellow Line began on Tuesday, three years after BMRCL missed its 2021 deadline. With 16 stations from RV Road to Bommasandra, it is crucial for ORR commuters. But 10 MDs in 22 years slowed progress. Namma Metro deserves steady hands, not shifting chairs."

BMRCL holds stakeholder meetings for Phase 3 Metro

The BMRCL has been conducting environmental stakeholder consultations for its proposed Phase-3 Metro and Double Decker Project, covering Corridor I (JP Nagar 4th Phase to Kempapura Cross) and Corridor II (Hosahalli to Kadabagere Cross) since Monday.

In the meetings, officials confirmed that 6,700 trees would be affected by the project, revised from the earlier estimate of around 11,000, following on-ground inspection.

Anganwadi workers, activists question facial recognition tech implementation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA State Anganwadi Workers' Union and Bharat Gyan Vigyan Samity (BGVS) organised a public meeting on Tuesday to discuss the introduction of facial recognition software in anganwadis and public schools. The meeting came in the light of the implementation of mandatory facial recognition for take-home rations in the country's anganwadis through the Pradhan Mantri Poshan Shakti Nirman (PM POSHAN) scheme, and the recent introduction of the same software by the state government to measure teacher attendance in Karnataka's public schools.

Several anganwadi workers, academics and activists stood united in the open meeting at Gandhi Bhavan here to question the intent behind the introduction of the facial recognition software by the Centre, and the state government's eager compliance to it. Economist Dipa Sinha, an active proponent at the Right to Food campaign, mentioned how this implementation comes as a distraction to existing problems, which include a stagnant budget allocation for anganwadi food since 2017, despite the market inflation. "The food is sub-par; facial recognition does nothing."

Anganwadi workers and activists attend an open meeting at Gandhi Bhavan in Bengaluru on Tuesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

She went on to mention that if any genuine intent existed towards social welfare, funds would go towards improving the quality of the food. "(Almost) 14 lakh anganwadis exist in India right now, because people fought on the streets and in the courts. It is upon us to protect what we fought for," she said.

Drawing attention to the lack of research backing the software's need, the lack of transparency towards the public, and the unilateral decision-making process without any consultation, BGVS vice-president Subhankar Chkaraborty said, "This is not a policy towards social welfare. It is an instrument to ensure lesser budgets for social welfare."

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

23RD July : We are running through the planetary rulers for the week. Today is a Mercury day. But what does this actually mean? In my opinion this means that it's the right time for talking about all those things which really need to be talked about. At the same time, we all need to listen to each other!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
For the third day running the Moon is making supportive alignments, which should surely be cause for rejoicing. It is important, by the way, not to blame other people, but to acknowledge your own role in causing certain difficulties or awkward situations.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
You may feel slightly resentful at the apparent ease with which other people are able to exploit you or treat you like part of the furniture. However, one way to fit in is to go along with the trend and be charitable, recognising the ways in which you can help strangers.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Your new planetary developments are generally favourable. Perhaps you will now have a bit of time to stop, think and separate the lies from the truth. Someone has certainly been spinning a line, even though they probably believe every word of it.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
If you're a true Cancerian, you should come out from under your stone and head for the number one job. Forget past embarrassments and realise that everyone makes mistakes, not just you! You should also try to convince a friend or loved one that your feelings are genuine.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
It's good to give up when you are ahead. In view of current developments, you should look at whatever area of life is doing very well and do what you can to maintain your current position while beginning to put your energy elsewhere. Your timing must be perfect!

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It would do you a power of good if you got your financial situation on a proper footing. There will be suggestions and schemes coming up over the next year which require an injection of cash, and it will obviously be very useful if you are solvent.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You may be puzzling over a mystery, or perhaps straining to keep a secret. My advice would be to maintain discretion for a little while longer, perhaps until the weekend. This shouldn't inhibit you from doing what you know to be right, or from setting a good example.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Just a quick word about your physical well-being: it looks as if you may be overdoing it. Indeed, some of you have already overdone it, so take as much rest and relaxation as you need to get back on course. You really should maintain a balance between competing pressures.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
There is so much planetary activity aligned with ambitious regions of your chart that you might now expect to receive public acclaim. But for what? All the signs are that your skills as an entertainer may soon be most admired, perhaps to your surprise.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There are no signs that your chart is any less sensitive than before. Neither are you about to become any less assertive. What you must learn now is the art of avoiding banana skins. On a more mundane note, you can draw various domestic threads together, today.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You can't always be putting yourself under pressure to get things done, and in many ways this is a day to relax and take stock. At home help may come from a surprising source, while at work an employer may hold out the prospect of increased money or status - but will the price be worth it?

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The whole range of personal affairs and relationships is now up for re-consideration. Partly, this is because certain irritating and unsettling alignments are now moving on, but also because you are about to extend your social network. New friends are bound to change the way you think.

₹2-CR ROBBERY 'VICTIM' TURNS OUT MASTERMIND

Bizman, 14 others held for conning 2 men with crypto investment deal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN a dramatic twist to the Rs 2 crore robbery case reported in Vidyaranyapura last month, investigators have uncovered that the complainant himself orchestrated the entire heist.

The police have arrested 15 people, including the complainant, identified as Shri Harsha, for cheating two businessmen under the guise of converting their cash into the cryptocurrency USDT (Tether). Four more suspects remain at large.

The arrested have been identified as Harsha, a businessman, Rakshith M, Chandrashekhar, Benjamin Harsha, Syed Akhib, Mohammed Suhail, Salman Khan, Muheeb S, Mohsin Khan, Salman Khan (second accused with same name), Syed Amjad, Syed Afreed, Syed Wasim, Mohammed Ateeg. Sandeep, Sheikh Sadu, Rakesh and Mohammed Sabeer are absconding.

According to the police, Harsha filed a complaint on June 25, claiming that he had been robbed by five armed men while facilitating a cryptocurrency transaction in MS Palya. He alleged that during the deal, the gang assaulted him and his associated and escaped with ₹2 crore in cash.

However, the case took a turn after the arrest of the suspects. During interrogation, they revealed Harsha's role in plotting the crime. Further investigation, bolstered by CCTV footage and call record analysis, confirmed Harsha's involvement.

Police said Harsha had lured two businessmen — Bharath Singh from Bengaluru and Abhishek from Mangaluru — promising high returns by converting their ₹2 crore cash into USDT. He assured them that the deal would be routed through RTGS with GST-compliant documentation and premium profit margins.

On the day of the crime, Harsha took the victims to a shop owned by one of his accomplices in MS Palya. As they began counting the cash, a group of armed men stormed in, assaulted the victims, and locked all six people inside, including Harsha and three of the victims' friends, to stage the scene as a genuine robbery. The gang fled with the cash packed in gunny bags.

Following the arrests, Harsha reportedly confessed and identified the businessmen who had handed over the money. Both Singh and Abhishek corroborated that Harsha offered them a crypto investment deal with lucrative returns.

City Police Commissioner Seemant Kumar Singh confirmed on Tuesday that some of the accused have prior criminal records at KR Pura and Bagalur police stations.

Police have recovered ₹1.1 crore in cash, as well as cars, bikes, mobile phones, and the weapons used in the robbery. Efforts are under way to recover the remaining funds. A report will be forwarded to the Income Tax Department once the investigation is complete.

All police personnel to undergo training in MAP-Drugs app

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN an effort to make Karnataka a drug-free state, all police officials and relevant department personnel across the state will undergo training on the use of the MAP-Drugs app. District-wise targets will also be set to control drug abuse and subcommittees modelled on the Anti-Narcotics Task Force (ANTF) will be established to coordinate efforts.

These directions were issued during the 6th state-level Narco Coordination Committee meeting, chaired by Chief Secretary Shalini Rajneesh, at Vidhana Soudha on Tuesday. DG & IGP M A Saleem, Narcotics and Organised Crime (Cyber Command Unit) head Pronab Mohanty, Additional Chief Secretary Mohammed Mohsin and other senior officials were present.

According to a press release, the chief secretary emphasised the need for police and other department officials to adopt the MAP-Drugs app and instructed that drug-related information be made available in Kannada on government websites. She also urged districts to follow the Belagavi model in tackling drug abuse.

To prevent drug trafficking, Rajneesh called for intensified checks at airports and recommended including customs officials in coordination meetings. She also directed action against unregistered pharmaceutical companies and mandated that all pharmacies display boards stating: Sale without doctor's prescription is prohibited. She called for strengthening monitoring mechanisms to regulate the sale of red-listed drugs.

Rajneesh also called for improved Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) for managing de-addiction centres and directed that the public be informed about available services. Deputy commissioners were instructed to visit at least one de-addiction centre every month and submit reports.

She also stressed the importance of conducting drug tests in hostels using testing kits and taking action against positive cases.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

Empire gets notice for bright-red kebabs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

EVEN after the ban on artificial food colouring, samples of chicken kebab, collected as part of a routine drive in the city, have been found to have the banned substance used to give the dish a bright red colour. A health official said samples were collected from Empire Restaurant, a leading non-vegetarian chain known for its chicken kebabs and shawarmas.

In early 2024, the Karnataka government had banned the use of harmful artificial colours in food items like cotton candy, manchurian and kebabs. Food safety officers from the Department of Health and Family Welfare collected samples on June 27 and sent them for testing to the state food laboratory.

The results of the samples collected from the restaurant's six outlets across the city revealed that the kebabs had Sunset Yellow FCF and Tartrazine, both synthetic colours that according to health officials should not be present as per the Food Safety and Standards (Food products and addictive) Regulations 2011.

The health official termed the chicken kebabs 'unsafe' for human consumption. He said the leading restaurant chain has been found flouting rules for the second time, and severe action will be taken now. Notice has been served to Empire Restaurant Group.

CM TO MEET WITH TRADE BODIES, OFFICIALS TO RESOLVE GST MESS

'Move unfair, insensitive; govt must educate them first, not ambush them with 18% tax'

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah will meet with trade bodies along with finance department secretaries and commercial tax officers to allay the fears of small traders and street vendors on complying with GST norms on Wednesday.

Over 16,000 businessmen, many of them uneducated vendors selling fruits, pan, cigarettes, vegetables, milk, and flowers or canteens, bars etc across the state have been slapped with tax demands for allegedly exceeding Rs 40 lakh in goods turnover or Rs 20 lakh in services for UPI payments since 2021.

Calling the move "unfair and insensitive," FKCCI chairman MG Balakrishna said, "These are poor, struggling vendors. Most don't even know what GST is. How can we expect them to understand taxable vs non-taxable income when they've never been informed? The government must educate them first-not ambush them with 18% tax."

TRANSACTIONS

About 25 other representatives from other trade bodies too are expected to be present in Wednesday's meeting. Balakrishna urged the state to consider a symbolic 1% levy instead of imposing the full GST retrospectively. Sources said the commercial tax department only acted after monitoring transactions for four years. Seven divisions in Bengaluru alone have been hit. Tax department sources said if they have consistently made a turnover of more than 40 lakh UPI payments then imagine the volume of cash payments, surely it is bound to be higher.

Tax sources said this is not the full figure. There are about five service providers and this is the data from only two of them. Perhaps if we comprehensively take the data from all of them it could be higher. Officials said many vendors were unaware that pushcarts selling perishables like vegetables, fruits, milk, meat and flowers are tax-exempt-leading to a mistaken assumption that they are taxable.

Small traders to protest tomorrow

BENGALURU: The Karnataka State Bakery, Condiments and Small Traders Federation on Tuesday said its members will protest at Freedom Park on Thursday, in opposition to GST notices served by the Commercial Taxes Department. Federation chief DB Pratap Shetty said an atmosphere of fear has been created among small business owners running bakeries, milk booths, vegetable stalls, and condiment shops. "They have been asked to produce 4 years of bank statements, receipts, and transaction details within a week. Most of us don't maintain such records. We're not big businesses, and lack means to maintain books of accounts," he said.

Cong extends support to protest

MYSURU: KPCC spokesperson M Lakshmana has said that the Congress will support the upcoming protest by small traders against the GST notices issued by the Commercial Taxes Department in Karnataka. Addressing the media outside the Commercial Taxes Department Office in Mysuru on Tuesday, he accused the BJP of falsely blaming the Congress government for these notices. "GST is governed by the Union Government, not the State Government. As per Section 22 of the GST Act, any supplier with an annual turnover exceeding Rs 40 lakh is required to register under GST. These notices are being issued based on a 2018 circular from the Centre. We have always called GST the 'Gabbar Singh Tax' because it burdens small traders and the common man. These notices must be withdrawn immediately," he said.He also criticised Joint Commissioner of the Commercial Taxes Department, Meera Pandit, for claiming that both the State and Central governments must agree on any relief for small traders. "Meera Pandit is misleading traders and the public to damage the image of the state government. She must issue a clarification," he said. ENS

BJP slams CM over notices to small traders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Whip of the Opposition in the Council N Ravi Kumar and BJP MLC CT Ravi slammed Chief Minister Siddaramaiah for attempting to shift the blame on the Prime Minister on the ongoing GST imbroglio in Karnataka.

Ravi Kumar blamed Siddaramaiah for discouraging PM Modi's digital India push by forcing small traders, retail merchants, and street vendors to adopt "cash only policy" instead of UPI. It is deplorable on the part of Siddaramaiah to adopt a regressive policy, he said. The notices are being issued only on the basis of third party information without any verification, and the small traders, street vendors, and retail merchants are in panic, he said. The BJP leader said notices have been issued to vendors who deal exclusively in exempted goods such as fruits, flowers, meat, etc, indicating a lack of application of mind by the officers.

MLC CT Ravi said that after notices were issued, many traders have stopped accepting money through UPI.

He said that the notices were issued to small traders based on the directives given by the CM during a meeting of Finance Department officers. Notices were issued to small traders only in Karnataka, and it was not done in any other states, he said. The State Government must admit that its treasury is empty, he said, and added that the BJP extends its support to the protest called by the small traders.

Ahead of session, Cong likely to finalise MLC, chairperson list

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

AFTER multiple trips to New Delhi by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar, aspirants to various Boards and Corporations are hoping the leaders will finalise the list along with names to four vacant posts in the Council, at least this Friday.

In the past six weeks, Siddaramaiah has visited Delhi twice, and will be heading to the capital again on July 25, whereas it will be Shivakumar's fifth visit. Interestingly, AICC General Secretary and Karnataka incharge Randeep Singh Surjewala visited Bengaluru four times during the same period. During their Delhi visit, the CM and DyCM held meetings with Union Ministers to discuss Karnataka's projects, and met the high command.

Congress sources said both leaders are trying to influence the final list of chairpersons, and four MLC seats. They have already had a couple of meetings with the high command in Delhi and Bengaluru on nominating MLCs, as the seats have been vacant for many months. So also the chairpersons and deputy chairpersons to 37 Boards and Corporations.

"KPCC President DK Shivakumar is keen on giving these posts to party workers and not elected representatives. There is a demand from the teams of the CM and DyCM to appoint their people and this is expected to be finalised this week,'' said party sources.

Chief Whip in the Council Saleem Ahmed said ahead of the legislative session from August 11, they are hoping the nominations for four MLC seats will be finalised. "The CM and DCM are going to attend the Backward Classes sammelan at Delhi. We hope they will finalise the names for Boards and Corporations,'' he added.

A senior Congress leader, on condition of anonymity, said it is not a good sign to leave four MLC seats vacant in the Council, as they will give the party a majority. "We have seen some bills being passed in the Assembly where we have a complete majority, but bills are not passed in the Council due to lack of numbers. If names are not finalised now, we will have to wait till December,'' the leader added.

ENFORCE BAN ON CATTLE GRAZING IN FORESTS: KHANDRE

BENGALURU: Forest, environment and ecology minister Eshwar B Khandre on Tuesday directed forest officials to strictly enforce the ban on cattle grazing in forests across Karnataka. Taking note of cattle entering the state's forests from neighbouring Tamil Nadu, he said the Tamil Nadu High Court has banned cattle grazing in the forests of that state. Cattle from Tamil Nadu are let into forests in Karnataka for grazing. This should be stopped. Khandre said no compensation will be given if farmers or their cattle are killed by wild animals inside the forests. An official order was issued on Tuesday in wake of the death of a tigress and her cubs in Hoogyam Range of Malai Mahadeshwara Hills Wildlife Sanctuary (MM Hills) recently. Khandre said this is essential for wildlife conservation and to prevent man-animal conflict. Presence of domestic animals in the forests will affect herbivores and the prey base of carnivores. It also increases the possibility of infectious diseases from domestic animals spreading to wild animals. He said stern action will be taken against officials if the order is violated. ENS

BJP, Madiga netas call for protest on Aug 1

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ELECTED representatives from BJP and prominent leaders of the Madiga community have called for a statewide protest on August 1 demanding that the State Government implement internal reservation.

BJP leader and former Union minister A Narayanaswamy told reporters on Tuesday that Madigas and members of organisations associated with the community will protest in front of deputy commissioners' offices in all districts. Referring to the Supreme Court's judgment passed in August last that the states are constitutionally empowered to make sub-classifications within the Scheduled Castes to extend reservation, he said the state government has not taken any decision on it.

"If the government does not take a decision and table it in both Houses, we will give a call for Karnataka bandh soon,'' he said. Narayanaswamy pointed out that AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge had asked Telangana CM Revanth Reddy not to implement internal reservation in haste. However, Reddy implemented it in Telangana. Even the CMs of Andhra Pradesh and Punjab implemented it in their states. Only in Karnataka, it is being delayed, he said.

Narayanaswamy said five months ago when Madigas protested in Belagavi, it promised them to implement internal reservation within three months. Later, Justice Nagamohan Das Commission was constituted to conduct a study and submit a report within 40 days. But nothing happened so far, he said.

Govt reaffirms focus on inclusive development

THE latest year-on-year growth alone — from Rs 1,91,970 in 2023-24 to Rs 2,04,605 in 2024-25 — reflects a 6.6%, underscoring the state's sustained economic momentum. In decade-long growth, Karnataka ranks second in the country with a 93.6% increase, just behind Odisha, which recorded a 96.7% rise. For the year 2023-24, the highest annual growth was recorded in Mizoram (125.4%), followed by Gujarat (90.7%), Goa (89.9%), Karnataka (88.5%), Telangana (84.3%), and Odisha (83.4%).

However, complete data for 2024-25 remains unavailable for several states and union territories. Arunachal Pradesh, Goa, Gujarat, Jharkhand, Kerala, Mizoram, Nagaland, Sikkim, Tripura, Uttar Pradesh, Andaman & Nicobar Islands, Chandigarh, Delhi and Ladakh among others are marked as 'not available' in the government's reply.

While Karnataka and a handful of states have demonstrated strong growth, others are lagging. Punjab recorded only a 41.3% increase over the decade, Uttarakhand 33.5%, and Puducherry just 32.8%, the lowest among all reporting states. Conversely, states like Mizoram and Odisha, traditionally considered economically weaker, have shown remarkable improvement, hinting at a slow but encouraging narrowing of regional disparities.

The Ministry attributed the uneven growth to varying levels of economic development, sectoral composition, structural constraints, and governance quality. The government reaffirmed its focus on inclusive development through initiatives like 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas', and targeted programmes aimed at reducing poverty and promoting social equity.

'SIT probing Dharmasthala case needs a helpline number'

Mangaluru: The legal counsel for Sujatha Bhat, mother of Ananya Bhat, the first-year MBBS student who disappeared in Dharmasthala, has appealed to the State Government to set up a helpline for the already constituted SIT, as a few more individuals have come forward making similar allegations. In an appeal, advocate Manjunath N said, "The State Government has set up an SIT to probe the Dharmasthala case and has entrusted SIT to probe the case of Sujatha Bhat and similar cases that may arise in the future. Since SIT was constituted, I have received a few calls from the relatives of individuals who allege horrible experiences and tragedies at Dharmasthala and want to file police complaints but are uncomfortable with complaining to local police stations." Therefore, he requested the government to set up a helpline.

Centre should stop using ED as tool in political battles, says former MP DK Suresh

Bengaluru: Former Congress MP DK Suresh said the Supreme Court verdict in MUDA case is significant in view of the Centre misusing the ED to target political opponents. SC had quashed ED's case against CM Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathi in the case. Suresh said since the last two years, the SC had pulled up ED on many occasions. The Centre was using ED to target political opponents, he said.

NOTABLE SHIFT

Rising demand for girls-only colleges in DK district reflects community needs, cultural shifts

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

IN a notable shift in parental preferences, Dakshina Kannada district is witnessing a growing demand for girls-only colleges, particularly from sections of the minority community. Responding to this trend, the Karnataka government has sanctioned two new girls' educational institutions in the Mangaluru Assembly (Ullal) constituency, which is represented by Assembly Speaker UT Khader.

The Department of Minorities has sanctioned Rs 17 crore for a new educational complex offering schooling from Class 1 through degree level. The facility, which will cater to both residential and day scholars, will be established between Konaje and Pajir. Additionally, the Waqf Department will develop a girls' PU college in Ullal town. Both institutions will follow a 75:25 reservation ratio for minority and non-minority students, respectively.

The move aligns with a larger trend in the region. In Derlakatte, a government PU college, that was co-educational until last academic year, has now been converted into a girls-only institution, citing poor male enrolment and complaints about disruptive behaviour from some boys. In 2022-23, only 41 of the 91 enrolled were boys. The change was made after a proposal from the College Development Committee, led by MLA Khader, and was supported by parents.

Officials and educators say that the demand for girls-only colleges rose sharply in Dakshina Kannada post the 'Hijab episode'.

According to the principal of a government women's college in Mangaluru, the dropout rate among Muslim girls tends to increase after Class 10 and PUC, especially when access to nearby girls-only colleges is lacking. Early marriage and parental hesitation toward co-education have also been cited as contributing factors.

Private Muslim organisations have also established several girls' colleges in recent years. Government girls' colleges reportedly have a Muslim enrolment rate of 25-30%, significantly higher than that of co-educational government colleges.

This broader demand has shaped government policy. The Karnataka state budget has announced the establishment of 15 women's colleges on vacant Waqf lands in 2024-25, with 16 more slated for 2025-26.

Sources said the rise of girls-only colleges in Dakshina Kannada, particularly in minority-dominated areas, reflects evolving social dynamics, community-driven priorities, and the need to adapt education policy to ensure inclusivity and reduce dropout rates, especially for young women.

Defending the establishment of new girls-only institutions, MLA Khader emphasised community needs and the importance of empowering women through education. "I can't force families to send their daughters to co-ed colleges. These new institutions are being set up to address real demand on the ground," he said.

Crop infestation: CM responds to MLC's request

BENGALURU: Horticulture Department is taking steps to control blackhead caterpillar infestation plaguing coconut growers in Karnataka. It is estimated that the infestation is damaging crops in about 42,000 hectares. A survey will be conducted by private organisations, and in addition to that, a separate crop survey softw-are will be developed. After the survey report, the department will submit a proposal with recommendations to the government. MLC Dinesh Gooligowda had written to CM Siddaramaiah requesting measures be taken to control the infestation in coconut crops. Responding to his request, the CM had directed the department to obtain a report from experts and submit a proposal.

Madras HC seeks cybercrime SOP for women

Two weeks' time given to the IT Ministry

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

THE Madras High Court on Tuesday directed the Government of India to evolve a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) to deal with cyber-attacks against women, including the non-consensual uploading or sharing of intimate videos and images in digital platforms and social media networks.

Justice N Anand Venkatesh granted two weeks to the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology to submit the SOP and said appropriate orders on the matter would be passed after perusing the SOP.

> Ministry of Home Affairs and the Ministry of Women and Child Development have already been working on finalising the SOP
>
> A Kumaraguru, Union Government's counsel

Union Government's counsel A Kumaraguru informed that the Ministry of Home Affairs and the Ministry of Women and Child Development have already been working on finalising the SOP. The direction was issued by the judge while hearing a petition filed by a woman advocate seeking a direction to the Centre to remove her intimate videos and images shot and uploaded without her consent by her ex-friend from digital platforms. During the previous hearing, Justice Venkatesh had expressed anguish and shock over such acts of sexual offence perpetrated against vulnerable women and wanted the Centre to come up with a mechanism to prevent the problem as suggested by the Delhi High Court. Senior counsel Abudu Kumar Rajaratnam, representing the woman advocate, submitted that the videos have resurfaced on six websites. Subsequently, the judge ordered removal of the contents from these websites.

State public prosecutor Hasan Mohammed Jinnah informed that the victim's name was removed from the FIR and other case records.

Pointing out that the Supreme Court's order in the Nipun Saxena Vs Union of India case provided for removing victims' names in cases of rape and those filed under the POCSO Act, he requested the court to issue appropriate orders to extend such protection to victims in all types of sexual offences. He suggested filing of FIR in sexual offence cases in a sealed cover in the judicial magistrate court so that the identity of the victims can be protected.

Kerala pays final tribute to VS Achuthanandan

The mortal remains of former Kerala chief minister VS Achuthanandan leave the Secretariat in Thiruvananthapuram, on Tuesday | BP DEEPU

WITH flowers in hand and chants echoing in the air, thousands lined the streets on Tuesday to pay their final respects to former Kerala chief minister and CPI(M) stalwart V S Achuthanandan, whose mortal remains were taken from the state capital to his hometown, Alappuzha.

The body, draped in the party's red flag, was transported in a specially decorated KSRTC bus. The vehicle, which set off after 2 pm, had only reached Kazhakoottam—just a few kilometres from the city—by 7.45 pm due to the overwhelming turnout along the route. Several people walked alongside the bus, some holding children and pleading for a brief stop to offer their tributes. Long queues of women, students, and senior citizens were seen along the way, braving the sun and rain.

Groups of young CPI(M) workers led the way on foot, raising slogans in honour of the veteran. At every junction, more joined in, demonstrating the mass appeal of the 101-year-old leader.

Earlier in the day, Achuthanandan's body was kept at the Durbar Hall of the Secretariat complex for leaders and the public to pay homage. Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan, Governor Rajendra Vishwanath Arlekar, and senior leaders including M A Baby, Prakash Karat, Brinda Karat, D Raja, M V Govindan, Rajeev Chandrasekhar, and Sunny Joseph paid their respects.

Achuthanandan passed away at 3.20 pm on Monday at a private hospital, where he had been receiving treatment since June 23 following a cardiac arrest. A towering figure in Kerala's political landscape, he served as Chief Minister from 2006 to 2011 and was elected to the state assembly seven times.

His cremation is scheduled for Wednesday noon at the public crematorium in Valiya Chudukadu, Alappuzha.

Child marriage: Anganwadi worker's family 'excommunicated' in Kadur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chikkamagaluru

Tejaswini (centre) with her husband and mother-in-law | EXPRESS

THE family of an Anganwadi teacher in Yerehalli village of Kadur taluk has allegedly been excommunicated by fellow villagers since March 2024, for their suspected role in alerting authorities about a child marriage that took place in 2021. The incident led to the registration of a Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act (POCSO) case in 2021 at Birur police station.Speaking to reporters, anganwadi worker Tejaswini claimed that she and her family were socially boycotted after a minor girl in the village became pregnant and authorities intervened. "Childline officers and the anganwadi supervisor had visited the village two years ago. Villagers suspected that I was behind the POCSO complaint. Since then, we were banned from talking to anyone, denied access to community land, and even forbidden to visit the temple," she said.

Tejaswini also alleged that villagers warned the Anganwadi centre would be locked if she did not resign. "Each family in the village was allotted one acre of land. Our plot of land was taken back from us," she added.

Tejaswini's mother-in-law, Somamma, said that the family was barred from entering the village temple, interacting with neighbours, or hiring workers to cultivate their land. She alleged that villagers threatened to fine anyone who spoke to their family.

Birur police inspector Guruprasad told TNIE that the family was also involved in a dispute with the village over four acres of Gomala land. "Villagers claim the land is meant for grazing cattle. The entire village is united on the issue. There are also three IPC Section 307 cases filed against Abhishek, Tejaswini's husband," he said. He added that both he and the Tarikere DySP had visited the village and held peace talks to resolve tensions. Kadur taluk social welfare officer K Nataraj said the conflict appears to have escalated further over a strike planned by villagers on Wednesday.

Birds like tawny eagle, Indian bustard at risk from toxic farmlands

NEONICOTINOIDS have raised concerns due to their potential harm to beneficial insects like bees and other pollinators, and bird species dependent on them.

The NCBS study points to rampant and unregulated use of neonicotinoids, depriving grassland and raptor bird species like the Tawny Eagle, Greater Spotted Eagle, Saras Crane, Great Indian Bustard, Indian Roller, Bengal Florican and Common Pochard, of their prey. This has forced a decline in populations of these bird species.

The report noted the drastic decline in wetland and aquatic bird species including the Northern Pintail Duck, Tufted Duck, Greater Flamingo, Sarus Crane, Eurasian Spoonbill, Black-capped Kingfisher, Greater Flamingo, Baillon's Crake, Sarus Crane, Spot-billed Pelican, Eurasian Spoonbill, Lesser Adjutant, Painted Stork and Pied Kingfisher. The study, based on data from 2000 to 2023, stated that this was because of pollution in water bodies, silt accumulation, contamination, agricultural pollution, unscientific desilting and poor lake rejuvenation methods where there is no spillway and increased use of concrete.

Vivek Ramachandran, co-author of the study, says population loss in birds with specialised diets – like those feeding on vertebrates, carrion or invertebrates – has averaged over 25%. In contrast, species dependent on fruits or nectar have remained stable or even increased.

He said birds play a very important role in the health of people and in the ecosystem, and indicate the health of the community.

The NCBS study, "State of India's Birds: 2023: A framework to leverage semi-structured citizen science for bird conservation", was published in Ecosphere, an ESA Open Access Journal, on July 17, 2025, and released to the public on Tuesday.

Researchers assessed the status of 942 bird species using data contributed by scores of bird watchers on eBird. It highlighted that 204 bird species suffered long-term decline and 142 species were facing a current decline. Also, 178 bird species have been classified as 'high conservation priority', 323 species are listed as 'moderate priority' and 441 are listed as 'low priority'.

Girl elopes, dad ends life after cops fail to file POCSO case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chitradurga

A distraught father's desperate attempt to register a case under Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act against the youth who married his 18-year-old daughter cost him his life.

Ajjayya (54), a farmer from Gilikenahalli, consumed poison in front of Holalkere police station on Sunday. The police shifted him to Chitradurga District Hospital but he died on Monday. Irate villagers and Ajjayya's family members kept the body near the police station. The mob also tried to attack the DySP, forcing the cops to resort to lathicharge.

The Gilikenahalli marriage story unfolded first as a missing complaint case filed by the girl's mother at the Holalkere police station. What made things difficult for the police were two separate birth certificates that raised questions over the adult status of the daughter, Sanjana.

As per the birth certificate produced by the mother, Pushpa, Sanjana was 19 and studying for an undergraduate course.

On July 15, Sanjana and her husband, Raghu, appeared before the police and said they are adults and have married. The police then closed the missing case complaint.

But Ajjayya produced another birth certificate, this time from Davanagere Corporation, stating the girl was under 18 years. The police did not budge and refused to register a case under POCSO Act against Raghu, who also hails from the same village as that of Ajayya. Superintendent of Police Ranjith Kumar Bandaru on Tuesday held a press conference in the city and said that they would investigate Ajjayya's suicide.

Action! K'taka aims to make Mysuru the cinema capital of India

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

WITH an aim of helping Mysuru regain its past glory and making it the cinema capital of India, the Karnataka government has initiated a project to develop a film city on 160 acres of land. Projected to be built via Public-Private Partnership model, an expression of interest will be issued as soon as earmarked land in Himmavu village is fenced.

Mysuru has served as a filming destination for renowned directors such as Raj Kapoor, Mani Ratnam, Manmohan Desai, P Vasu, and Bharathiraja.

The 1940s also witnessed Hollywood movies being filmed here. It was a favourite haunt for acclaimed actors such as MGR, Rajkumar, NTS, Rajanikanth, Amitabh Bachchan and others. Recently, a portion of Rajanikanth's Jailer-2 movie was shot near Bilikere, on the Mysuru-Madikere road.

The Mysuru Premier studio - a famous studio till the early 80's, where majority of the south indian films were shot, has shut its doors. This has widened the scope for the need of a film city as it is difficult to shoot movies in cities like Chennai, Hyderabad, Mumbai and Bangalore, mainly because of logistics and other reasons, many experts contended.

The Kannada film industry, which produces about 120 films annually, and attracts at least 60 producers and directors, needs a film city with the best facilities on the lines of Ramoji Film City and Jubilee Hills.

Noted film director Rajendra Singh Babu said that Delhi is the national and political capital, Mumbai is the financial capital, while Mysuru needs to be developed as the cinema capital of the country.

He, along with a few other producers, met Chief Minister Siddaramiah in Mysuru, and requested to develop Mysuru as a film capital that will result in a boost to tourism and generate jobs. He said that Mumbai is no longer safe for leading Hollywood stars as most cities are burdened with rapid urbanisation and traffic congestion.

Mysuru, with lesser traffic, 250 locations within a 15 km radius, 16 palaces, various rivers, reservoirs and wild sanctuaries, will be the most desired destination in the country.

He said that the blueprint for the film city would be prepared, and it would be built in phases. The film city will have a railway track, runway, golf course, ponds, lakes, a palace, and other necessities required for a shoot. There are many locations like Srirangapatna, Melukote, KRS dam, Mysuru Zoo, Chamundi Hills, Nagarahole, Bandipur, Nanjangud, Talakadu, B R Hills, Kapila and Cauvery riverbed, where many movies can be filmed.

Expansion of the airport, a 10-lane express highway between Mysuru-Bengaluru, an increase in frequency of trains, and a reduction in travel time will make many look up to Mysuru as an ideal destination to shoot films, said travel agent Revanna.

Implement Kusum-B properly: CM to officials

Bengaluru: CM Siddaramaiah on Tuesday directed energy department officials to intensify efforts towards implementation of Kusum-B scheme, offering subsidy for installation of solar-enabled irrigation pumpsets. Siddaramaiah said 40,000 pumpsets have been approved under the scheme, and officials should work towards implementing it. During a meeting on Tuesday, officials apprised the CM that 25,000 additional farmers have applied under Kusum-B scheme and the state government will spend Rs 752 crore for it. The CM noted that the subsidy amount will reduce if the scheme is properly implemented. He was also informed that of the 4.5lakh unauthorised IP sets, two lakh IP sets have been authorised. Under this scheme, the Central government provides 30% subsidy and state provides 50%, so the farmer has to bear 20% of the IP set cost. ENS

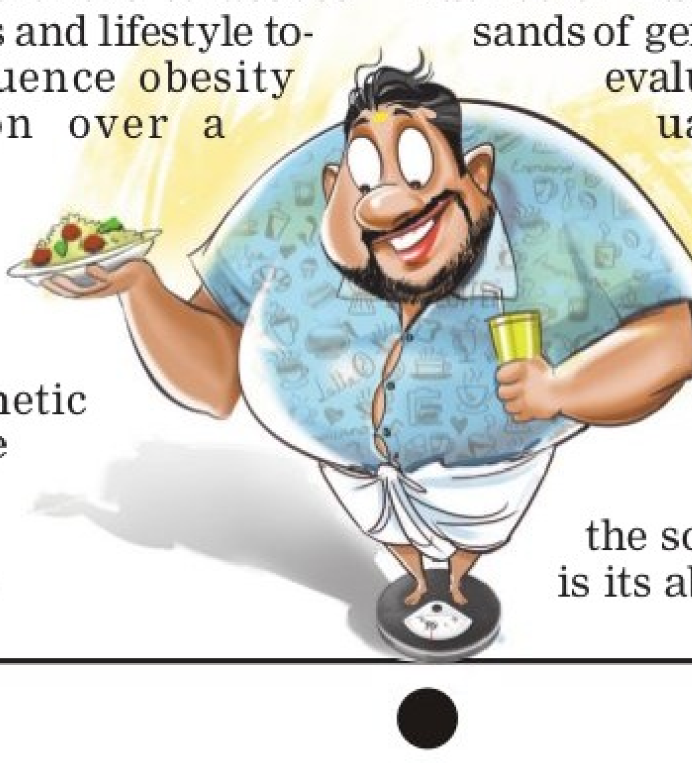
STUDY REVEALS

Around 30% of Indians at risk of adult obesity

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hyderabad

LONG-TERM tracking of thousands of healthy Indian individuals has revealed that 25% to 30% became obese by adulthood, even though they showed no signs of the condition at the beginning.

This finding is part of a global study that offers new genetic insights into obesity and introduces a Polygenic Risk Score (PRS) capable of predicting the likelihood of developing obesity as early as age five. The study involved over 600 scientists across 500 institutions, including researchers from Hyderabad-based CSIR-Centre for Cellular and Molecular Biology (CSIR-CCMB). Under the leadership of Dr Giriraj Ratan Chandak, CSIR-CCMB contributed to ensuring that the genetic data from Indian participants reflected South Asian diversity. He told TNIE, "The study included four Indian cohorts mainly from Mysore, Mumbai and Pune, ranging from 2,200 to over 20,000 individuals, many of whom have been followed for nearly two decades. The long-term data allowed researchers to assess how genetics and lifestyle together influence obesity progression over a lifetime."



The study also found that individuals with a higher genetic risk are more prone to obesity but tend to respond better to lifestyle interventions, although they may regain weight more quickly when those interventions are discontinued.

The model, created using genetic data from over five million individuals of various backgrounds, was found to be twice as effective as previous models. By integrating the influence of hundreds of thousands of genetic variants, it evaluates an individual's risk of obesity, serving as a robust early-warning tool to inform preventive lifestyle adjustments.

"What makes the score so powerful is its ability to predict, around the age of five, whether a child is likely to develop obesity in adulthood, well before other risk factors start to shape their weight," said Dr Roelof Smit, lead author and assistant professor at the University of Copenhagen's NNF Centre for Basic Metabolic Research.

Dr Chandak told TNIE, "This is one of the most extensive multi-ancestry studies ever conducted. It identifies genetic variants accounting for 18 to 20% of the genetic risk for obesity, almost triple what we previously knew. For India, it shows that precision prevention is possible but must go hand in hand with behaviour change."

The research also confirmed that obesity in Indians, which is often abdominal and visceral, follows a different genetic trajectory than in Europeans.

FIND THE REAL 7/11 KILLERS AND REASON FOR LAPSES IN PROBE

IN an unexpected turn of events, the Bombay High Court on Monday overturned the death sentences and life terms awarded to a dozen accused in the infamous 2006 Mumbai train blasts case. A special court set up under the Maharashtra Control of Organised Crimes Act had tried them for coordinating a series of bombings on seven suburban trains during the evening rush hour on July 11, 2006. The closely-timed attacks across the city, designed to spread terror, had snuffed out 187 innocent lives. The BJP-led Maharashtra government has rushed to challenge the judgement in the Supreme Court. Mumbai has been a terrorist target for more than three decades. As many as 713 persons were killed and over 2,000 injured in 14 incidents recorded between 1993 and 2011. Given the context, the state government was understandably looking to find closure on this cycle of violence.

However, the Bombay High Court has ruled that Maharashtra's Anti-Terrorism Squad had "utterly failed to establish the offences beyond reasonable doubt against the accused". The judgement notes that some of the confessions were extracted through torture, the forensic evidence was mishandled, and some of the eyewitnesses were either not reliable or were 'stock witnesses' also used in other criminal proceedings. In one case, a witness who allegedly saw bombs being assembled remained silent for 100 days and was initially a suspect before changing his statement.

There is no doubt that the 2006 blasts were an act of terror and those behind it must be punished for mass murder. However, as the court rightly pointed out, the rule of law would be undermined if those innocent of the crime are convicted merely to create "a false appearance of having solved a case… This deceptive closure undermines public trust and falsely reassures society, while in reality, the true threat remains at large". The botched investigation itself should be looked at even as the hunt for the real killers begins afresh. A new investigation team should be constituted to collect watertight evidence—to the extent possible after all these years—and nail the culprits in a retrial. Pursuing an appeal based on the current probe may be counter-productive. Action against terrorists responsible for so many deaths cannot be weakened by further administrative missteps.

JUSTICE FOR THE MISSING WOMEN OF DHARMASTHALA

IF a former sanitation worker's spine-chilling tale of mass burials in the temple town of Dharmasthala in Karnataka is indeed true, then it's time for a reckoning. The worker, who was employed by the Dharmasthala Manjunathaswamy temple and was in hiding for 11 years, claims his conscience does not allow him to stay silent any longer. His complaint to the police, that he was 'forced' to burn and bury the bodies of hundreds of women and men between 1995 and 2014, has the ingredients of a macabre crime saga—serial rapist-killers preying on women who vanished without a trace. Their bodies are buried in the forests along Nethravathi river and the perpetrators are allegedly persons of significant influence.

While the whistleblower's timeline partly corresponds with the unusually high 416 cases of missing persons and unnatural deaths registered in the region since the 1980s, the unresolved question over the killers is creating turmoil, especially among the political classes. There is also the damning story of Sujata Bhat, who has turned up after 22 years to seek justice for her medico daughter Ananya, who had vanished in 2003; Sujata claims she was attacked by the temple authorities. Now, several families are alleging that the local police did not properly investigate the missing cases and are demanding that all of them be reopened. News reports and posts were systematically brought down with court orders. No doubt, influence was exerted at several levels.

The worker, a Dalit, sought protection for himself and his family under the Witness Protection Act, 2018 before turning up at the police station with his advocates and a bag containing exhumed skeletal remains. The government has formed a team to investigate his complaint, but has excluded the controversial Soujanya case, which was closed by the Karnataka High Court in 2024 without convicting anyone. There could be a link, though, to 17-year-old Soujanya's rape and murder on her way home from college in October 2012. Her family has maintained that a religious leader shielded the criminals and that the case was deliberately weakened.

BJP leaders, while welcoming the probe, have cautioned against falsely implicating the temple authorities. Some have termed the case an attempt to defame the sacred town. Whether the killers are ordinary people or religious leaders, the investigators should be free to do their job thoroughly and professionally. Civil society must keep up pressure and demand justice for Soujanya, Ananya and all the other missing daughters of Dharmasthala.

QUICK TAKE

CONVINCE THE NATIVES FIRST

AFTER South Korea, Japan has become the latest East Asian country to lurch towards the political right. The far-right Sanseito party has won 14 seats in the country's 248-seat upper house of parliament with the anti-immigrant slogan 'Japanese first'. With this, Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba's Liberal Democratic Party has lost its majority coalition in the chamber. Facing the demographic crisis of a rapidly shrinking and ageing population, Japan has invited skilled workers from other countries including India. However, the economic giant has missed the first step of convincing its citizens why such immigration is necessary. It's a gap the populist right is exploiting all over the world.

Expecting uneducated migrants to fill and upload online forms to enroll as voters is a flight of fancy. The Election Commission still has time to take corrective steps

BIHAR S.I.R.: DOING THE RIGHT THING THE WRONG WAY

JAGDEEP S CHHOKAR

Former Dean, IIM Ahmedabad; founder-member, Association for Democratic Reforms; and a petitioner in the Supreme Court SIR case

A correct and up-to-date electoral roll is sine qua non for a free and fair election in a democracy. However, given the size, diversity, and geographical dispersion of population in India, we must also accept that a perfect, 100 percent correct electoral roll is an impossibility. Nonetheless, this cannot and should not detract us from continually 'cleaning' the electoral roll.

Viewed in this context, the Election Commission of India's special intensive revision (SIR) of the Bihar electoral roll, announced on June 24, cannot be faulted. However, life is hardly ever so simple. The three documents issued by the ECI that day raise a number of questions, creating confusion. Some of these questions are legal, and some procedural and practical.

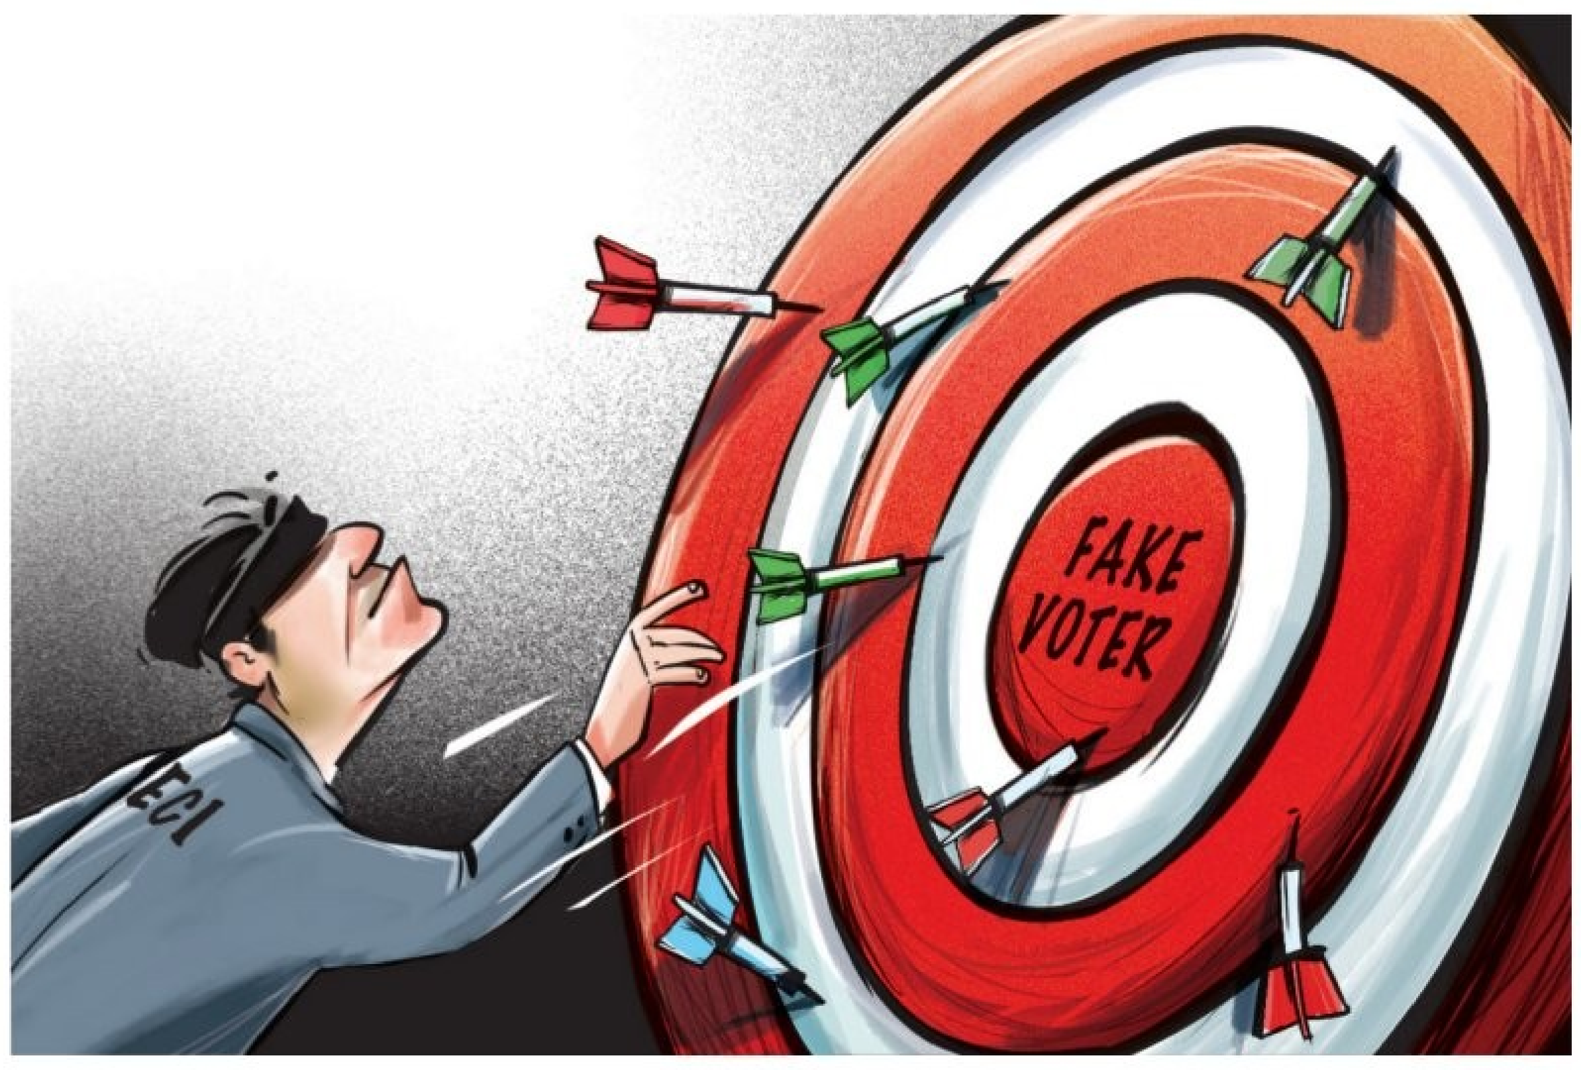
One of the major legal issues is the 'disenfranchisement' of all those citizens who were registered as voters by the ECI itself, following the laid down legal procedure, since January 1, 2003. There are two parts to this.

First, in their June 24 order, ECI says that for those on the electoral roll as on January 1, 2003, there is "probative evidence of eligibility, including presumption of citizenship". This implies that this "presumption of citizenship" is not there for those registered as voters after January 1, 2003. This is grossly unfair because it amounts to depriving these people of their rights as citizens.

It is correct that Article 326 of the Constitution says that only citizens of India can vote in elections. But this Article is not the only stipulation on this matter. Section 19 of the Representation of the People Act, 1950 titled 'Conditions for registration' states, "Every person who (a) is not less than 18 years of age on the qualifying date, and (b) is ordinarily resident in a constituency, shall be entitled to be registered in the electoral roll for that constituency."

Form 6 of the Registration of Electors Rules, 1960 also requires only a self-certification by the applicant that s/he is a citizen of India for registration as a voter. The irony is that a person in any state other than Bihar can get registered as a voter with a self-certification about citizenship today, whereas a person in Bihar has to provide one of 11 documents!

The second issue with this en masse disenfranchisement is that it violates the existing legal procedure for deletion of names from electoral rolls, specified in Section 22 of the Representation of the People Act, 1950. This states, "…before taking any action… on the ground that the person concerned has ceased to be ordinarily resident in the constituency or that he is otherwise not entitled to be registered in the electoral roll of that constituency, the electoral registration officer shall give the person concerned a reasonable opportunity of being heard in respect of the action proposed to be taken in relation to him".



MANDAR PARDIKAR

This is valid as of today, but the irony is that the names of lakhs of registered voters in Bihar have been deleted by a simple administrative order in complete disregard of the existing law.

The procedural and practical issues are far too many for all of them to be listed, not to speak of discussing them. The timing of the exercise in terms of the proximity of the state assembly elections, during the rainy season when large areas of Bihar suffer annual floods, the non-availability of specified documents to a large proportion of the population, and the extremely short period provided for completing the mammoth exercise are just a few of them.

The issue that seems to have been completely underestimated by the ECI is that of migrants. A very large proportion of people from Bihar—the estimates vary between 20 percent and 50 percent—migrate to other states in search of livelihood. The bulk of them work as daily-wage labourers in large cities in a variety of jobs including a major chunk in the construction industry. Another major section works as agricultural labourers in Punjab and Haryana, where entire families migrate. Most of these people are not educated (some are even illiterate) and are economically and socially deprived.

Though the ECI continues to say that those who are not physically present in Bihar can download their Enumeration Forms from the ECI's website, fill them up, and then upload the filled forms on the same site, the practicability of this is highly questionable. Expecting a daily-wage earner described above to go to a cybercafé, download forms, fill them, attach documents, and then upload them, appears to be a flight of fancy that the ECI has, consciously or otherwise, decided to follow. This will not happen; instead, the following scenario is more possible.

The names of thousands of migrants are likely to be missing from the draft electoral roll that the ECI will put up on August 1, 2025. These people will not be able to check the draft roll for the same reasons as those which would have prevented them from registering. Consequently, they will not file any 'claims or objections'. Their names will, thus, not appear in the Final Electoral Roll that the ECI will publish on September 30, and these people will not even know that their names are not included in the Final Electoral Roll.

Not knowing the situation back home, these folks will turn up in their villages a day or two before the polling day, as they do during elections, expecting to cast their votes. The situation that might develop when a large number of people who have voted in all elections over the last 20-25 years find their names missing from the roll is not comfortable to visualise.

Notwithstanding the almost daily press notes issued by the ECI that the entire exercise is proceeding flawlessly and a huge number of Enumeration Forms have been collected ahead of time, and a few discomforting media reports, it is not too late for the ECI to think through the exercise till the end and rectify errors.

It is necessary to take corrective actions in time so that this does not turn out as a well-meaning action implemented through wrong or inappropriate means such as the US's attempt to introduce democracy in Iraq.

BUILDING BUSINESSES

THE recent meeting of the Indian foreign minister with his Chinese counterpart in Beijing is surely a good portent. The two nations must find an imaginative way to cooperate for their own future and that of the world. Chanakya was among India's foremost strategists, as Sun Tzu was for China. They were the original McKinsey or Bain for their societies. Can their successors come together?

In 2000, I was a member of the Indian delegation to the World Trade Organization meeting in Seattle, where China was admitted into the group. I shared the hope of many delegates that the rules-based global system would strike deeper roots as China becomes more akin to other trading nations. Today, it is sobering to see that the WTO is virtually dysfunctional and the rules-based world order is breaking down. Above all, far from China becoming like others, many nations including the US are becoming like how China was.

Something must give, as the West cannot continue to dominate the world. And there are good reasons for holding this view.

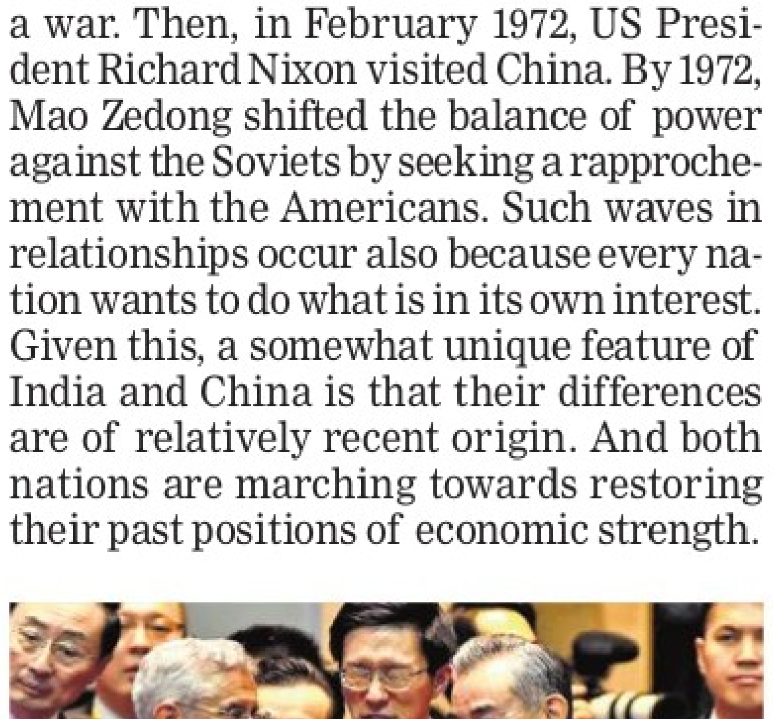
One reason is that India and China have learnt selectively from the West, but not lost their civilisational underpinnings. The lessons they have learnt serve as an additional layer to their solid civilisational underframe—a 'sandwich' of strengths that is under-noticed.

George Frost Kennan, counsellor to the US state department in the 1940s, used to refer to a 'spiritual vitality' that America must rely upon to contain the Soviet Union. As subsequent events unfolded, America failed hopelessly in executing this task. India today can take heed of Kennan's view. Both India and China will claim and qualify as pre-possessing great 'spiritual vitality', whatever their views of it.

Secondly, Xi Jinping and other Chinese leaders consider the 1800s as the nation's 'century of humiliation', when it lost its economic and civilisational primacy. India sees the era of Turkish, Afghan and Mughal rule as its centuries of humiliation, though it lost economic primacy only from the 1800s, like China, as a result of European colonisation.

Nations come together and drift apart for many reasons. France and England have fought wars against each other, and together against others. The US and Russia fought the Second World War together and then drifted into decades of the Cold War.

Indeed, China and the USSR were so close in the 1950s that there were thousands of Russian advisors in China. In the summer of 1960, when China and Russia fell apart, the Soviet advisors were asked to pack up and leave. In 1969, the two fought a war. Then, in February 1972, US President Richard Nixon visited China. By 1972, Mao Zedong shifted the balance of power against the Soviets by seeking a rapprochement with the Americans. Such waves in relationships occur also because every nation wants to do what is in its own interest. Given this, a somewhat unique feature of India and China is that their differences are of relatively recent origin. And both nations are marching towards restoring their past positions of economic strength.



AFP

Given their civilisational links, the differences between India and China are relatively recent. In the emerging world order of Tropical and Arctic nations, India and China need to work together in the former bloc—for their own sake as well as others'

While doing so, China has become quite prolific and competent in new technologies and research. Maybe India can explore its own idiosyncratic approach by combining Indian manufacturing with Chinese technology. This should not be viewed as a matter of national ego. But it would hold promise only if Indian industry spends much more—three to four times more than it does now—on research and new technology. China reportedly started in the new era by imitating, but almost simultaneously built its own global R&D competencies. Somehow, India Inc has failed to do this for decades.

Here is a preliminary model of possible synergies and anomalies for a strategic recalibration between the two.

Civilisational: The two today are the only ancient civilisations that have shown centuries-long resilience and survival instincts.

Historical: Both are trying to clamber back to historical positions of heft after losing the plot to colonialism and foreign occupation for three centuries.

Pragmatism: China modernised using Western systems of finance and manufacturing, but was guided by a preference for disciplined leadership in which the State watches over entrepreneurs. India is modernising, but with a native preference for distributed leadership involving participation, diversity and inclusiveness.

Skills: China has an ancient record in exporting merchandise like gunpowder, compass and so on. India has a record of exporting ideas to do with philosophy, mathematics, astronomy and so on.

Attitude: China is steeped in the ancient ways of Confucian discipline underlining its growth efforts. India is steeped in its ancient ways of discussion and debate underlining its entrepreneurial attitudes. As former Singapore Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew implied in an interview, in China, what the Centre instructs get implemented by the states; but in India, the states debate what the Centre requests.

Geography: Both have the natural advantage of water, climate, soil and people that characterise the Valeriepieris Circle.

Supply chains: Both are already important components of the global value chains, one in manufactured products and the other in information processing.

Emerging poles: The old construct of North and South, East and West may yield to two new poles: Arctic and Tropical. The Tropical will include India and China for sure, and maybe Indonesia, and some African and Latin American countries. The design of the future multipolar world will evolve from here, but there will be value in India and China being in the same group.

If business pragmatism drives other major nations, why not have it drive India and China in working together? Chanakya and Sun Tzu may yet converge.

Jairam raises questions over absence of Nadda, Rijiju from Business Advisory Committee meeting chaired by V-P

‘Deeper reasons’: Oppn poser on Dhankhar’s exit

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A day after Vice President Jagdeep Dhankhar’s abrupt resignation from his post citing health reasons, the Opposition parties sharpened its attack on the government saying that “there are far deeper reasons behind the move”.

Demanding clarity on VP’s resignation, Congress general secretary in charge of communications Jairam Ramesh said PM Modi’s “non-post” on X regarding the “forced resignation” has only deepened the mystery.

The Opposition party also said the “farmer’s son” is being denied even a dignified farewell. “PM’s non-post on X regarding Dhankhar’s forced resignation has only added to the mystery of his abrupt exit. Surely the PM could have been a bit more gracious -- he is, after all, the supreme master of hypocrisy,” he wrote.

Modi, in his tweet, wished Dhankhar good health and said he got many opportunities to serve the country in various capacities.

Ramesh also raised questions over the absence of Union ministers J P Nadda and Kiren Rijiju from the second Business Advisory Committee (BAC) on Monday, saying “something very serious” happened between 1 pm and 4.30 pm on Monday to account for their deliberate absence from the meeting.

He pointed out that Dhankhar chaired the BAC of the Rajya Sabha at 12.30 pm on Monday. “It was attended by most members, including Leader of the House J P Nadda and the Minister of Parliamentary Affairs Kiren Rijiju. After some discussion, the BAC decided to meet again at 4:30 PM,” he said. At 4.30 pm, the BAC reassembled under the chairmanship of Dhankhar, the Congress leader said.

“It waited for Nadda and Rijiju to arrive. They never came. Dhankhar was not personally informed that the two senior Ministers were not attending. Rightly he took umbrage and rescheduled the BAC for today at 1 PM,” he said.

“Now in a truly unprecedented move, Dhankhar has resigned. He has given health reasons for doing so. Those should be respected. But it is also a fact that there are far deeper reasons for his resignation,” Ramesh claimed. Other Opposition parties also took a swipe at the govt for Dhankhar’s sudden exit.

3K DRUGS DECLARED ‘SUB-STANDARD’ IN 2024-25

Of the 1.16 lakh drug samples tested, over 3,000 were declared not of standard quality in 2024-25, the Rajya Sabha was informed Tuesday. Union health minister J P Nadda said 245 drug samples were declared spurious/adulterated in this period, while 961 prosecutions were initiated for manufacturing, sale and distribution of spurious drugs. To assess regulatory compliance of drug manufacturing units, the Central Drugs Standard Control Organization, in collaboration with state regulators, initiated risk-based inspections of drug manufacturing and testing firms in December 2022, which resulted in 694 actions being taken, he added.

Energy security our top priority: Foreign Secy over EU sanction on oil

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA will prioritise its own energy security above external pressures as Europe considers tougher sanctions on Russian oil, Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri said on Tuesday and called for “balance and perspective” in global energy diplomacy

“We have made very clear our view with regard to secondary sanctions… We have been very clear that in so far as energy security is concerned, it is the highest priority of the government of India to provide energy security for the people of India and we will do what we need to do with regard to that,” Misri said at a media briefing ahead of Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s visit to the UK and the Maldives starting Wednesday.

Responding to questions on whether Western energy sanctions would feature during the Prime Minister’s visit, Misri said that it is “important not to have double standards and to have a clear-eyed perception of what the global situation is in so far as the broader energy market is concerned and where the providers of energy goods are located and where they are going to come from and who needs energy at what point in time.”

Addressing the issue further he said: “We do understand that there is an important and serious security issue that is confronting Europe, but the rest of the world…is also dealing with issues that are existential,” Misri said. “It’s important to keep balance and perspective when talking about these issues.”

The EU’s new sanctions, unveiled last Friday, ban the import of refined petroleum products made from Russian crude and designate the Vadinar refinery as part of its effort to choke Moscow’s oil revenues amid the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict. India, however, has pushed back, reiterating that it does not recognise unilateral sanctions and criticising what it sees as “double standards” in energy trade.

Misri reinforced this position, stating: “There needs to be a clear-eyed perception of the global energy market, including where the providers of energy goods are located, where they’re going to come from, and who needs energy at what point in time.”

He added that New Delhi had not observed any specific moves from the UK yet on secondary sanctions.

PM heads to UK, Maldives to bolster strategic, trade ties

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Modi will embark on a four-day visit to two distant island nations – the United Kingdom and the Maldives – from July 23, aimed at strengthening bilateral partnerships on strategic, economic, and trade fronts.

In London, PM Modi will hold talks with British Prime Minister Keir Starmer and meet King Charles III. The visit will also include interactions with top business leaders from both nations. “This visit, though a short one, will give both leaders the opportunity to review the entire gamut of the bilateral relationship,” said foreign secretary Vikram Misri.

This will be Modi’s fourth visit to the UK as the Prime Minister. The India-UK relationship, elevated to a Comprehensive Strategic Partnership in 2021, now spans critical sectors including trade, defence, education, health, and emerging technologies. Both sides are expected to ink a Free Trade pact during visit. “There is the obvious legal scrubbing, etc, that any such agreement needs to go through. We are continuing to work on those and last-minute work on that is continuing,” Misri said.

India-UK bilateral trade crossed $55 billion in 2023–24, with the UK ranking as India’s sixth-largest investor. India, in turn, is a major source of FDI into the UK, with nearly 1,000 Indian companies employing over 100,000 people there.

Defence ties are also on the rise, with joint military exercises, the placement of instructors at military academies, and a new partnership in electric propulsion technology.

Following the UK visit, Modi will travel to the Maldives on July 25 for a state visit at invitation of President Mohamed Muizzu. He will be the guest of honour at the Maldives’ 60th Independence Day celebrations.

“This is the first state visit hosted by President Muizzu, and it underscores the close strategic bond we share under the Neighborhood First and MAHASAGAR vision,” Misri said, adding, “Our development partnership is robust, rooted in mutual trust and tailored to Maldivian priorities.”

Roadmap prepared for Census rollout: Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

‘Digital data collection framework discussed’

Rai informed that during the meet, the roadmap of ensuing Census and its related activities such as finalisation of frame of administrative units, collection of data through mobile apps, management and monitoring of census activities through Census Management and Monitoring System (CMMS) portal, self-enumeration, training of census functionaries and a few other connected issues.

THE Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) on Tuesday said preparations for Census 2027 has begun with a two-day conference of Directors of Census Operations held in this regard at the beginning of July. The Ministry also confirmed that the exercise will encompass caste enumeration will be conducted in two phases.

In a written reply to a query in this regard Minister of State (MoS) for Home Nityanand Rai informed the Lok Sabha that a two-day conference was held on July 3-4 in the national capital which was attended by Directors of Census Operations, senior officers from Directorates of Census Operations and officers from Office of Registrar General and Census Commissioner, India.

The minister further said, during the meeting, the participants discussed a comprehensive roadmap of ensuing Census and its related activities such as finalisation of frame of administrative units, collection of data through mobile apps, management and monitoring of census activities through Census Management and Monitoring System (CMMS) portal, self-enumeration, training of census functionaries, and other related issues.

Rai also pointed out that the preparation for Census 2027 started with publication of the gazette notification on June 16, 2025 expressing the intent of the Government to conduct a Population Census.

Earlier, in June, the Centre had announced that the Population Census-2027 will be conducted in two phases, and for the first time, it will also include enumeration of castes.

The MHA, then, made the announcement through an official statement mentioning that the census will follow different reference dates depending on the region, in accordance with logistical and climatic factors. “It has been decided to conduct the Census-2027 in two phases along with enumeration of castes,” the MHA had said.

According to the MHA statement, the reference date for the “Population Census-2027 will be 00:00 hours on March 1, 2027, for most parts of the country”. But, for the Union Territory of Ladakh, and the “non-synchronous snow-bound areas of Jammu and Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh, and Uttarakhand, the reference date will be 00:00 hours on October 1, 2026.”

This development marked a significant step in the preparation for the upcoming national census, which was delayed due to the Covid pandemic and is now slated to be one of the most comprehensive data-gathering exercises undertaken by the Indian government.

The Census of India is conducted under the provisions of the Census Act, 1948 and the Census Rules, 1990. The last Census of India was conducted in 2011 in two phases.

‘Who are they to make such remarks’: Tharoor takes jibe at Cong leader

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

DAYS after senior Kerala Congress leader K Muraleedharan launched a scathing attack on him, MP Shashi Tharoor on Tuesday hit back, questioning the legitimacy of those criticising him. “First of all, it seems to me that the people saying this also have to have a basis for saying this. Who are they? What is their party’s position? I would like to know.”

‘Not one of us’

Muraleedharan, a prominent Kerala Congress leader, had said Tharoor was “not one of us” and would remain excluded from local events unless he changes his stance.

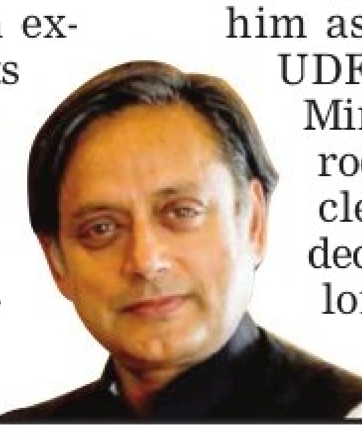
Muraleedharan had said earlier that the Thiruvananthapuram MP would no longer be invited to party programmes in the state capital due to his stance over national security.

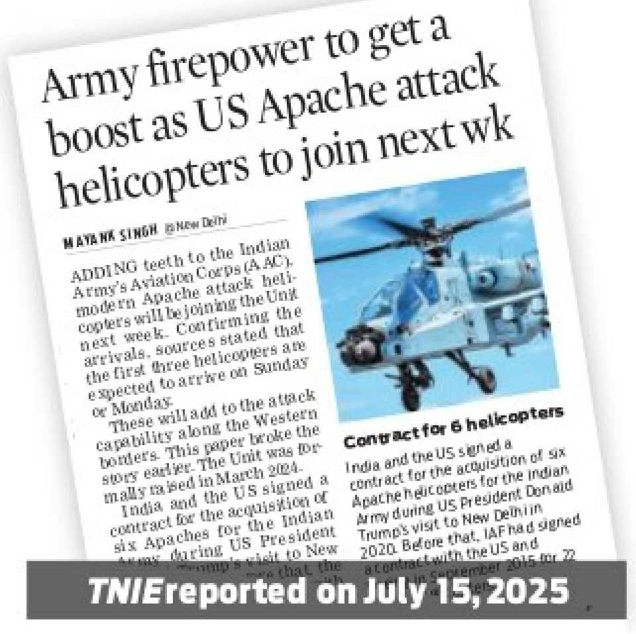
Muraleedharan, a prominent leader in the Kerala Congress, had said on Sunday that Tharoor was “not one of us” and would remain excluded from local events unless he changed his views. “He is not with us, so there is no question of him boycotting an event,” Muraleedharan had said.

The rift intensified after Tharoor, speaking at an event in Kochi on Saturday, defended his public support for the armed forces and the Centre in light of recent national security developments. “The nation comes first; parties are a means to serve it. I will stand my ground because I believe this is the right thing for the country,” Tharoor had asserted.

He also flagged a deeper shortcoming within political parties. “When people like me advocate cooperation with other parties on national security, our own party sees it as disloyalty. That’s a big problem,” he said.

This isn’t the first time Muraleedharan has targeted Tharoor. He previously criticised the MP for sharing a survey that named him as the most preferred UDF candidate for Chief Minister, suggesting Tharoor’s loyalties were unclear. “He should first decide which party he belongs to,” Muraleedharan had said.





Army firepower to get a boost as US Apache attack helicopters to join next wk

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

ADDING teeth to the Indian Army's Aviation Corps (AAC), modern Apache attack helicopters will be joining the Unit next week. Confirming the arrivals, sources stated that the first three helicopters are expected to arrive on Sunday or Monday.

These will add to the attack capability along the Western borders. This paper broke the story earlier. The Unit was formally raised in March 2024.

Three Apache copters to join Army soon

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

IF everything goes according to plan, the first three Apache attack helicopters will be inducted into the Indian Army by the end of this month. “The helicopters will be put to user checks before they get inducted into the Unit, which is planned at the end of this month,” a source said.

The New Indian Express was the first to report that a batch of three AH-64E Apache attack helicopters –onboard Antonov (An)-124, the heavy lift transport aircraft – reached the Indian Air Force base in Hindon, Uttar Pradesh. The next batch of three more helicopters is scheduled for delivery by November this year.

The induction is aimed at adding more teeth to the Army’s Aviation Corps’ (AAC) attack capabilities.The Unit was formally raised in Jodhpur, Rajasthan in March 2024.

The combat helicopters are armed with Stinger air-to-air missiles, Hellfire Longbow air-to-ground attack missiles, rockets and guns. These will add to the attack capability along the Western borders. India and the US signed a contract for acquisition of six Apaches for the Army during US President Donald Trump’s visit in 2020.

Apache, said to be the most sophisticated combat copter, is meant to take the place of existing fleet of Mi-35 choppers for assault and anti-armour operations.

The AH-64E Apache is equipped with latest communications, navigation, sensor and weapon systems.It features an improved Modernised Target Acquisition Designation System.

Driving institute in each district to curb accidents

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

SIX months after its launch, the Centre’s ambitious plan to set up at least one Institute of Driving Training and Research (IDTR) in every district is gaining momentum, with groundwork underway and proposals coming in from across the country.

The Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) has approved 20 IDTRs, with another 20 in the pipeline.

“On a daily basis, the ministry is receiving proposals. The matter is being taken up on priority,” said officials familiar with the development. “There was some confusion as the matter had landed in the Supreme Court, and it was believed that a stay had been imposed. But work is progressing. The government is giving a subsidy of ₹2.5 crore, though the cost is around ₹3-3.5 crore.”

The scheme, supported by the 14th and 15th Finance Commissions, aims to enhance road safety through structured training for drivers, especially those operating commercial vehicles. The initiative was launched earlier this year by Union Road Transport and Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari. The push comes amid alarming data on road accidents.

Official data shows that over 1.40 lakh people die in road accidents across India each year. Recent analyses indicate that the majority of these accidents are caused by driver error. In 2022, India reported 4.61 lakh road accidents, with 1.68 lakh deaths—the highest fatality count since 2018. According to the ministry, 82% of accidents in 2019 were due to driver error.

As per the revised guidelines, tier-one cities will have one driving training institute for every 2.5 crore people, while tier-two cities will require one for every one crore population. At the district level, there must be at least one institute for every one lakh residents, with a maximum of four per district under specific conditions

Land for the institutes must be encroachment-free and provided by states or UTs, while the Centre will offer a one-time grant. Local administrations will handle recurring costs.

AI completes DGCA-mandated checks on Boeing

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

AIR India on Tuesday confirmed it has completed all Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA)-mandated inspections of Fuel Control Switch (FCS) locking mechanisms on its Boeing 787 and 737 aircraft, including those operated by Air India Express.

“No issues were found with the said locking mechanism,” the airline said, adding that voluntary checks had already begun on July 12, two days before the DGCA directive was issued on July 14.

“With this, the two airlines have complied with the directives of the DGCA... The same has been communicated to the regulator,” the statement further said.

The inspections were ordered after a preliminary Aircraft Accident Investigation Bureau (AAIB) report on Ahmedabad crash that killed 260 people. The report revealed that the Boeing 787’s FCS had moved to the “CUTOFF” position shortly after takeoff. The crash was linked to a 2018 US FAA directive that had not been implemented.

“Air India remains committed to the safety of passengers and crew,” a spokesperson said.

Bihar's BJP leaders pitch Nitish as V-P; JDU retorts

RJD claims Dhankhar's resignation a BJP plan to offer the post to CM

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

AMID speculation over the next Vice-President, many BJP leaders from Bihar on Tuesday pitched for Chief Minister and JD(U) chief Nitish Kumar for the post , which fell vacant after Jagdeep Dhankhar resigned.

BJP leader and Bihar cooperative minister Prem Kumar said the party would decide on Dhankhar's successor but he would be happy if someone from Bihar was chosen for the post. PHED minister and BJP leader Neeraj Kumar Bablu said, "It would be nice if Nitish became next Vice President. What's the problem in this?"

BJP MLA Haribhushan Thakur Bachaul said, "It is not in our hands to make Nitish Kumar Vice President. If this happens, it will be very good. It will be auspicious for Bihar."

JD (U) leader and minister Shravan Kumar, however, said, "There is no question of Nitish Kumar leaving Bihar. He will be here, lead the NDA to victory in assembly polls and serve the people of the state, enjoying another term in office."

RJD leader Tejashwi Prasad Yadav claimed, "He (Dhankhar) conducted proceedings on the first day of the session, then resigned at night. If it was health-related, he could've done it earlier. Was the resignation given or taken? What happened with Dhankhar, it could happen with Nitish Kumar later as Union Home Minister Amit Shah has already said the CM will be decided after Bihar polls."

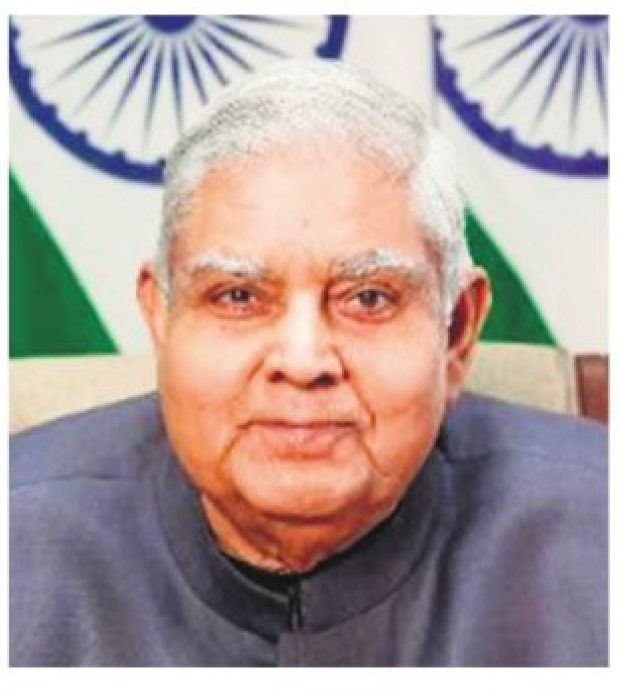
RJD chief whip Akhtarul Islam Shahin claimed that Dhankhar's exit was aimed at creating a vacancy that could be offered to Nitish in a bid to remove him from Bihar politics. "For long, BJP has been seeking to get rid of Nitish and install its own CM. They are growing desperate ahead of the elections as an NDA defeat is imminent," he claimed.

Earlier, former union minister and BJP leader Ashwini Kumar Choubey had even suggested that Nitish be made Deputy PM. So, it is not far-fetched to see Dhankhar's resignation as part of a BJP strategy to push Nitish into a politically irrelevant position, he added.

Meanwhile, sources claimed that BJP top leadership could pick Bihar governor Arif Mohammad Khan for the post of Vice President as he enjoyed support of senior leaders across party lines.

Dhankhar is okay: Didi trashes health concerns

As rumours swirl about what led Jagdeep Dhankhar to suddenly step down as the Vice-President on the first day of the monsoon session of Parliament, Trinamool firebrand and West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee on Tuesday dismissed health concerns as his reason to demit office mid-term. "I think his health is absolutely okay. He is a healthy man," an incredulous Didi remarked, adding to the buzz around his departure.



Deadline extended

The last date of submission of Enumeration Forms for SIR exercise has been extended by one one. According to an EC directive issued Tuesday, electors can now submit their forms until July 26, instead of the previous July 25 deadline.

Oppn sports black, stalls Assembly to protest electoral rolls revision

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

CHAOS reigned Bihar Assembly on the second day of the five-day Monsoon session on Tuesday as Opposition members wore black and protested the Election Commission's Special Intensive Review (SIR) of electoral rolls in the state, demanding immediate discussion on the matter.

Marked by shouting of slogans and scenes of unrest, the session was adjourned twice amid escalating tensions — once just 21 minutes after the proceedings started for the day. The agitated members stormed the well, lifted chairs in protest and, in a moment, captured the video and hurled papers towards CM Nitish Kumar.

Marshals immediately intervened to restore order, struggling to contain the uproar. The Opposition members were not in a mood to relent despite repeated request from the Speaker Nand Kishore Yadav to the members to take their respective seats. The House was adjourned till 2 pm and chaos prevailed, and Speaker's request fell on deaf ears.

The commotion began shortly after the House convened at 2 pm, with Leader of Opposition Tejashwi Prasad Yadav denouncing the SIR process, calling it "anti-democratic" and alleging it threatened the integrity of the electoral process.

Over 52L Bihar voters not found at addresses, says EC

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of Bihar electoral rolls has so far found that more than 52 lakh voters were not present at their registered addresses, including over 18 lakh who have died, the Election Commission (EC) said on Tuesday.

According to an official statement, 52,30,126 voters, amounting to 6.62% of the state's total registered voters, were either deceased, had shifted permanently, were enrolled at multiple locations, or untraceable.

"Of the total, 18,66,869 electors were reported dead, 26,01,031 had permanently shifted, and 7,50,742 electors were found to be enrolled at multiple places, and around 11,484 voters were not traceable," the EC said.

Noting that the efforts have been intensified to ensure that all eligible electors are included in the draft electoral roll to be published on August 1, the EC said the entire election machinery is working to search those electors who are yet to submit their Enumeration Forms or have not been traced yet.

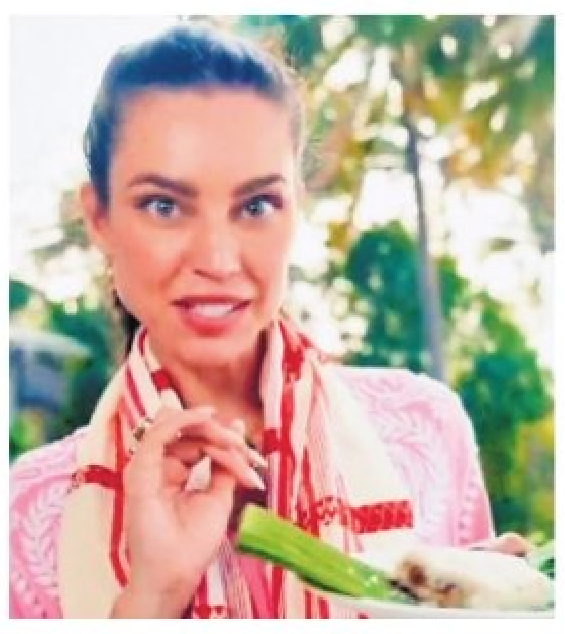
In a video, the Master Chef Australia finalist can be seen preparing and tasting a traditional Assamese delicacy, drawing the attention of CM Himanta Biswa Sarma, among others. "Assam's recipes entice global tastebuds! Glad to see celebrated Chef @SarahToddChef is relishing the taste of this local delicacy and preparing it herself. From cuisines to culture, visiting Assam is an experience of a lifetime," Sarma posted on X. Minister Pijush Hazarika also wrote, "Delighted to see @SarahToddChef exploring and savouring the rich tastes of Assam."



Former commander of ULFA joins the BJP

Former rebel leaders joining politics is not unusual in Assam. Manoj Rabha alias Drishti Rajkhowa is the latest addition to that list. This former "deputy commander-in-chief" of banned insurgent group United Liberation Front of Assam (ULFA) recently joined the ruling BJP. He dismissed speculation that he joined the party to contest next year's Assembly elections. He said he would work on the lines of the party's plans and agenda. Later in his life with ULFA, Rajkhowa was active in Meghalaya. He surrendered in the state in November 2020 amid police operations. Party's state president Dilip Saikia and several other leaders were present at the ceremony.

Students learn about urban ecosystems

Thirty students got a chance to deepen their understanding of urban natural ecosystems and cultivate a sense of environmental stewardship at a three-day workshop by biodiversity conservation organisation Aaranyak and Help Aid Foundation in Bonda, Kamrup (Metro) district. The students participated in hands-on, nature-based learning activities to cultivate a scientific temperament and refine their observation and documentation skills. "The participants explored plant biology, types of pollination, and experienced microscopic examinations of various flower pollens and ferns," Aranyak stated in a statement.

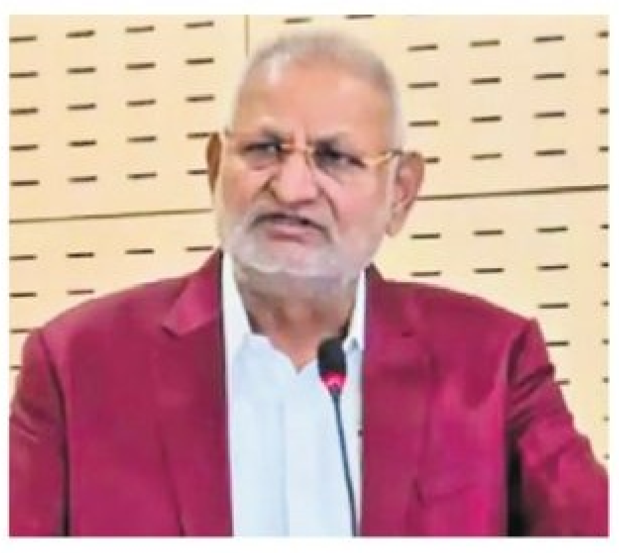
After 'rummy' video, minister's 'govt is beggar' remark sparks Maha row

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA agriculture minister Manikrao Kokate stirred a controversy by calling the Mahayuti government a "beggar" on Tuesday.

Kokate used the word in the context of the government charging only a rupee from farmers for crop loan insurance. "The reality is a beggar also does not accept a rupee as alms, but the state government is accepting it from the farmers. It shows who is rich and who is the beggar," Kokate said. Later, he explained that his statement was twisted and blown out of proportion to target him. Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis said he had not seen the minister's statement, adding that calling his government a beggar was not the right thing.

He defended the state's financial situation, saying, "Maharashtra is a progressive and developed state. Its financial condition is sound. Maharashtra has increased investment in the agriculture sector. We have decided to invest ₹5,000 crore annually and ₹25,000 crore over the next five years in that sector."



Meanwhile, Kokate also defended himself against charges that he was playyhhing Junglee rummy inside the Assembly.

He said that he was familiar with House rules and had clarified that he was not playing rummy, but the rummy game appeared on the screen when he was checking the news.

"If I am at guilty, I am ready to resign before the winter session of the state Assembly. Let there be a fair probe, and truth will come out. The Opposition has no issue and blowing things out of proportion," Kokate said.

NCP-SP's Rohit Pawar, while sharing the video of Kokate playing rummy, said, "The available video is 45 seconds long. Who takes so much time to skip advertisements? Kokate wanted to skip the Junglee rummy advertisements?"

Baghel's son sent to 14-day judicial custody in C'garh liquor scam case

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

A special PMLA court in Raipur on Tuesday remanded Chaitanya Baghel, son of former Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel, to 14-day judicial custody in connection with the ongoing investigation into a multi-crore liquor scam.

He was produced before the court by the ED upon expiry of the five-day custodial remand. The central probe agency arrested Chaitanya on July 18 at his Bhilai residence.

The remand document of the ED cited Chaitanya's alleged key involvement in laundering over ₹1000 crore in proceeds from the excise scam, and a portion of the massive scandal was channelised into his real estate project, 'Vitthal Green', under Baghel Developers.

In its statement, the ED claimed that the investigation has divulged how ₹ 16.70 crore in the liquor scam proceeds was seemingly laundered via Baghel's real estate ventures, besides such entities like Dhillon City Mall, Dillon Drinks. Chaitanya, according to the probe agency, emerged as a key beneficiary of the illegal revenue contributed by the alleged liquor syndicate.

Amid pressure, Punjab hikes land pooling payout to farmers

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

BUCKLING under pressure from farmers protesting against its controversial land pooling policy and under attack from the opposition, the Punjab Cabinet amended it on Tuesday, increasing the annual compensation to farmers for acquiring their land from ₹30,000 to ₹50,000 an acre.

The Cabinet also offered them commercial plots in lieu of pooled land measuring as little as one kanal. Additionally, farmers can take loans against the Letter of Intent, and the registration of sale deeds for such land has not been halted.

The government has plans to acquire 65,533 acres of land across 21 cities and towns in the state to develop both industrial and residential zones.

Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann slammed the opposition for allegedly spreading false propaganda that the scheme would "rob" farmers of their land. He said the farmers "liked" the policy. He also dismissed the charge that there would be no land registry once the notification of a plot of land is issued.

Mann said that until urban development work begins on a piece of land, farmers who opt for the land pooling scheme can continue farming activities.

Mann said, "After the government takes possession of the land, farmers will then get ₹1 lakh per acre. If it takes more than a year for land development, then farmers will get 10 percent additional amount for each year." He said amendments to the policy were made in response to suggestions from farmers.

Mann said that now even a landowner offering one kanal of land for pooling would get a residential plot of 125 square yards and a commercial space of 25 square yards in return. If a farmer refuses the commercial plot he will get an additional 600 square yards of residential plot.

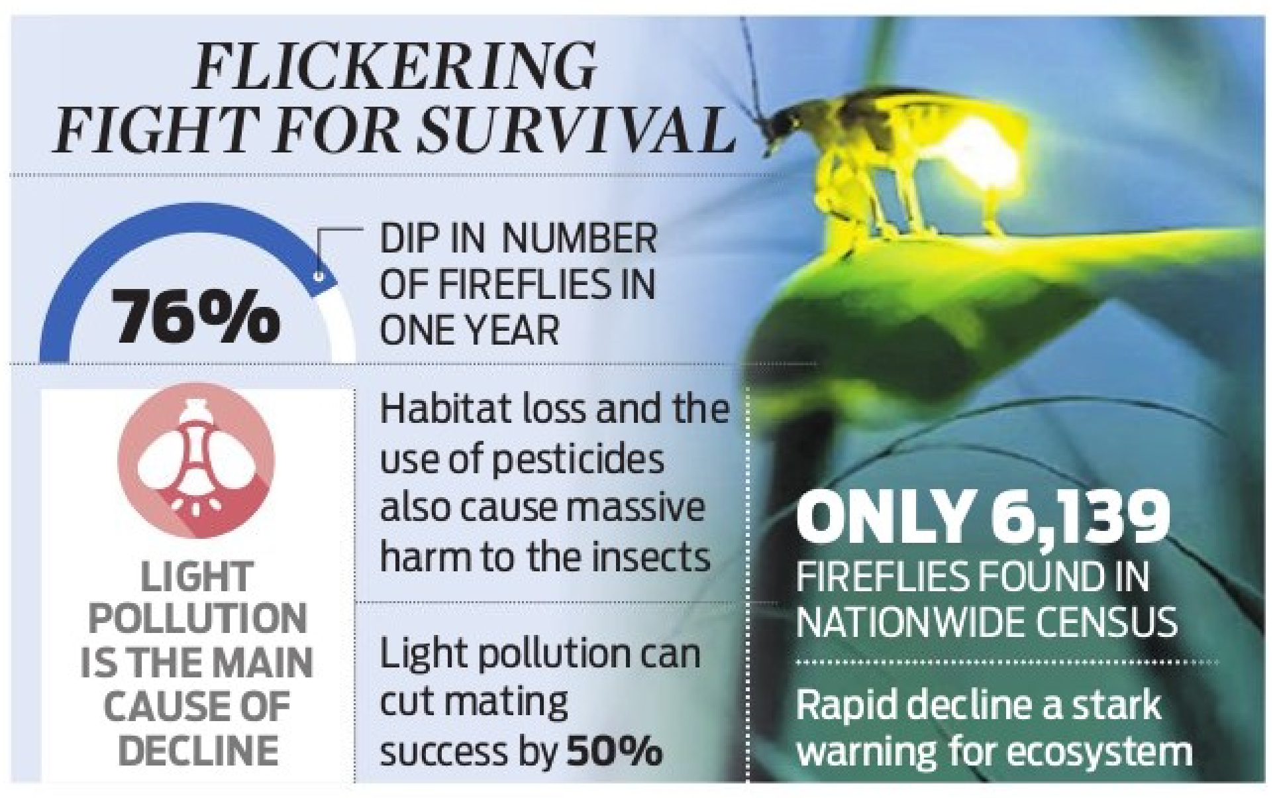
The state cabinet had given its nod to the land pooling policy last month and had then asserted that not even a single yard would be forcibly acquired from landowners. However, the opposition and the farmers dubbed it a "looting" scheme.

Congress president Amarinder Singh Raja Warring accused the AAP government of allegedly forcing farmers to "walk into a trap". "Farmers will not bite the bait", he asserted, pointing out, "When the government doesn't have enough money to run its day-to-day affairs, pay salaries or the promised ₹1,000 to every woman, where will it get the money to pay the farmers?"

Fireflies face extinction, count dips 76% in 1 yr

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE twinkling fireflies (jugnu), once a staple of 1980s' Bollywood films and children's bedtime stories, face an existential crisis. A recent nationwide census, conducted by two scientists in collaboration with the Wildlife Institute of India (WII), has revealed a drastic and concerning 76 percent decline in their numbers across the country within just one year, pushing these enchanting insects to the brink of extinction.



The grim reality came to light following the census initiated by Senior Professor Dr. Virendra Prasad Uniyal and Dr. Nidhi Rana of Graphic Era University in Dehradun. Their extensive efforts across 22 states revealed a total of just 6,139 fireflies this time, a sharp drop from previous observations.

"The relentless march of materialism and the resultant light pollution have been identified as the primary culprits behind this alarming disappearance," Dr. Uniyal told this daily. He emphasised that the artificial glow emanating from expanding urban centres is proving fatal for these nocturnal creatures.

Utilising special QR codes and links, the researchers engaged 232 participants from 22 states, including Uttarakhand, Kerala, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, Karnataka, Gujarat, Punjab, Jharkhand, Bihar, and Himachal Pradesh, in this citizen science initiative.

Dr Uniyal said the findings are stark. "This time, only 6,139 fireflies were recorded. This is a very low number compared to last year, when approximately 26,000 fireflies were found across 20 states."

Constant artificial illumination disrupts their natural cycles and, critically, their ability to find mates. For fireflies, which rely on their distinctive bioluminescent signals for reproduction, this environmental interference is proving fatal."What we once only spoke of in stories is now rapidly becoming a distant memory."

Dr. Uniyal flagged the urgency of the situation. "This rapid decline, especially the 76 percent drop in just one year, is a stark warning for our ecosystem. Nature's beautiful glow is fading, and we must understand the implications of this loss."

The study's revelations have ignited fresh concerns among environmentalists about the impact of unchecked development on biodiversity. He said, "The main reasons for this include the destruction of habitats, excessive use of artificial night light, increasing use of pesticides and chemical fertilisers in agricultural areas, and pollution of water sources." These have a devastating impact on the fireflies' delicate life cycle, he added.

1 held after J'khand woman stripped, thrashed over suspicion of witchcraft

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

IN a horrific incident that has once again exposed the grim influence of superstition in society, an elderly woman was stripped, cut with blades on several parts of her body, and mercilessly thrashed by a group of people for practicing witchcraft in Jharkhand's Hazaribagh. After the torture, the woman was allegedly taken to Pretshila in Gaya where her head was tonsured.

The incident took place at Jabariya village under Barhi police station in Hazaribagh late on the evening of July 18.

The victim mustered courage and filed a complaint in this regard at Barhi police station late on Sunday. After the matter came into light, the police have arrested one person in connection with the incident.

'Body parts slashed'

The accused slashed various parts of the victim's body with a blade to drain blood and allegedly performed some ritual. "After stripping her, the woman was thrashed badly and various parts of her body were cut with a blade, letting the blood ooze out from everywhere," said the FIR, adding, that the accused extorted ₹20,000 from the victim.

According to the complaint, seven people from the same village forcefully entered the victim's house on Friday night and stripped her clothes, accusing her of practicing witchcraft. "After stripping her, the woman was thrashed badly and various parts of her body were cut with a blade, letting the blood ooze out from everywhere," stated the FIR lodged at Barhi police station.

The accused slashed various parts of the victim's body with a blade to drain blood and allegedly performed some ritual, the FIR said. According to the woman, they also demanded ₹80, 000 from the woman and extorted ₹20,000 from her.

Notably, all the seven accused are relatives of the victim. The brutality started around 10 pm on Friday and lasted until 3 am on the next morning. They did not stop here, the accused took the woman to Pretshila in Gaya, shaved her head and beat her again. After the torture, she was brought to Barhi market and left there around 10 pm on Saturday. The woman somehow reached home by walking, the FIR read.

After this, the victim along with her son went to the police station and filed a complaint. "One of the accused persons, Shambhu Yadav, has been arrested and sent to jail, while the search is still on for the other accused persons," said Barhi police station in-charge.

US to opt out of UNESCO again, 2 years after rejoining

UNITED NATIONS

THE Trump administration announced Tuesday that it will once again withdraw from the UN cultural agency UNESCO, an expected move that has the US further retreating from international organisations.

The decision to pull US funding and participation from UNESCO comes two years after the Biden administration rejoined following a controversial, five-year absence that began during President Donald Trump's first term. The White House cited similar concerns as it did in 2018, saying it believes US involvement is not in its national interest and accusing the agency of promoting anti-Israel speech.

The decision, which won't go into effect until December 2026, will deal a blow to an agency known for preserving cultural heritage through its UNESCO World Heritage Sites program — which recognises significant landmarks for protection, ranging from the Taj Mahal to Egypt's pyramids of Giza and the Grand Canyon National Park. The agency also empowers education and science across the globe.

It is the Trump administration's latest move to pull support for UN. agencies under a larger campaign to reshape US diplomacy. Under the "America First" approach, the administration has pulled out of the UN ,World Health Organisation and top UN human rights body, while reassessing its funding for others.

State Department spokesperson Tammy Bruce said US withdrew over UNESCO's "divisive" cultural agenda.

Gaza hospital says 21 kids died of malnutrition, starvation in 3 days

Hosps overwhelmed as aid dwindles, new cases arrive 'every moment'

GAZA CITY

THE head of Al-Shifa hospital in Gaza City said on Tuesday that 21 children had died across the Palestinian territory in the past three days "due to malnutrition and starvation".

"These deaths were recorded at hospitals in Gaza, including Al-Shifa in Gaza City, Al-Aqsa Martyrs Hospital in Deir el-Balah and Nasser Hospital in Khan Yunis... over the past 72 hours," Mohammed Abu Salmiya told reporters.

UN Secretary General Antonio Guterres warned on Monday evening that "the last lifelines keeping people alive are collapsing" in Gaza, and that there were growing reports of children and adults with malnutrition. Abu Salmiya told reporters that new cases of malnutrition and starvation were arriving at Gaza's remaining functioning hospitals "every moment".

"We are heading towards alarming numbers of deaths due to the starvation inflicted on the people of Gaza," he added. After talks to extend a six-week ceasefire broke down, Israel imposed a full blockade on Gaza on March 2 this year, allowing nothing in until trucks were again permitted at a trickle in late May. But stocks accumulated during the ceasefire gradually depleted, leaving the territory's more than two million inhabitants experiencing the worst shortages since the start of the war in October 2023. World Food Programme director Carl Skau, who visited Gaza City in early July, called the situation "the worst" that he had ever seen.

Last Sunday, Gaza's civil defence agency reported that at least three infants died from "severe hunger and malnutrition" in the past week.

On Monday, more than two dozen countries, including Israeli allies Britain, France, Australia and Canada, urged an immediate end to the war, the release of hostages and the free flow of aid. The World Health Organization said Israeli forces raided its main staff residence in Deir al-Balah, forcing women and children to evacuate on foot toward the coast.

"Male staff and family members were handcuffed, stripped, interrogated on the spot and screened at gunpoint," the U.N. health agency said in a statement. It said two staff and two family members were detained, with three later released and one still being held.

The WHO said its main warehouse in the city, which is in the evacuation zone, was damaged by an explosion and a fire, hurting the agency's ability to help hospitals and emergency medical teams. There was no immediate comment from the Israeli military.

EU tells Israel to stop killing Gazans at aid points

Brussels: EU foreign policy chief Kaja Kallas told her Israeli counterpart Tuesday that Israel's military "must stop" killing civilians at aid distribution points in Gaza. Meanwhile, a spokesman for the bloc also condemned any attacks against the World Health Organization after the agency said its facilities in Gaza had been targeted by Israeli forces. Kallas wrote on X that "the killing of civilians seeking aid in Gaza is indefensible". "I spoke again with Gideon Saar to recall our understanding on aid flow and made clear that IDF must stop killing people at distribution points," she wrote.

UN says over 1,000 killed seeking food in Gaza since May

Deir Al-Balah: More than 1,000 Palestinians have been killed since May while trying to get food in the Gaza Strip, mostly in the vicinity of aid sites run by an Israeli-backed American contractor, the United Nations human rights office said Tuesday. Israeli strikes killed 25 people across Gaza, according to local health officials. Desperation is mounting in the territory of more than 2 million, which experts say is at risk of famine because of Israel's blockade and ongoing 21-month offensive. A breakdown of law and order has led to widespread looting and contributed to chaos and violence around aid deliveries.

B'desh jet crash sparks student fury, demands for justice

DHAKA

HUNDREDS of students protested Tuesday near the site of the crash of a Bangladesh air force training jet into a school in the nation's capital, demanding accountability, compensation for victims' families and the halt of training flights.

The ongoing unrest over Monday's crash shut down traffic in parts of Dhaka, a city still recovering from last year's student uprising that ousted the prime minister as the interim government seeks to restore order and organize elections next year.

Some students entered the country's administrative headquarters and were dispersed with tear gas and stun grenades. The death toll from the crash rose to 31, including at least 25 students, a teacher who died from burns she sustained while helping others escape the two-story building, and the pilot on his first solo flight.

Officials said 171 people, mostly students at Milestone School and College and many with burns, were rescued.

As Bangladesh declared Tuesday a day of national mourning, the military launched an investigation into the crash in Dhaka's densely populated Uttara neighborhood. The civil aviation authority was not directly involved.

High Court judges asked the government to form a technical committee to investigate as well. The protesting students demanded "accurate" publication of identities of the dead and injured, compensation for families and an immediate halt to the use of "outdated and unsafe" training aircraft by the Bangladesh air force. They accused security officials of beating them and manhandling teachers on Monday. "The exact number of people killed and injured must be made public," an ex-student of the school, who refused to provide his name, told The Associated Press at the scene.

The military and the office of Bangladesh's interim leader Muhammad Yunus said there was nothing to hide regarding casualties and they were coordinating with all concerned. There was no response to the other allegations.

Philippines trade deal concluded with 19% tariff

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump agreed Tuesday to reduce threatened tariffs on the Philippines, but only by one percentage point, after what he termed a successful meeting with his counterpart Ferdinand Marcos.

Welcoming Marcos to the White House, Trump called him a "very tough negotiator" and said: "We're very close to finishing a trade deal — a big trade deal, actually."

In a social media post shortly afterward, Trump said that while the Philippines would open up completely to US goods, he would still impose a 19 percent tariff on products from the Southeast Asian country, a major exporter of high-tech items and apparel.

"It was a beautiful visit, and we concluded our Trade Deal, whereby The Philippines is going open market with the United States, and zero tariffs," Trump wrote on his Truth Social platform.

The Philippines was among two dozen economies confronted by Trump with letters this month warning of 20 percent tariffs on all goods coming into the United States as of August 1. The 19 percent rate is still above the 17 percent threatened by Trump in April, when he threatened sweeping global tariffs.

The trade rift comes despite increasingly close defense relations between the United States and the Philippines, a former US colony and treaty-bound ally that has seen high tensions with China.

The United States last year, under Trump's predecessor Joe Biden, deployed ground-launched missiles in the Philippines.

The Philippines originally faced a 20 percent duty.

EDU BUDGET SHORTFALL EXPLAINED

Finance Minister Sri Mulyani Indrawati said the education budget misses the constitutional 20% target due to fluctuating government expenditures and economic factors like El Niño. While the budget is set at 20% of total spending, actual realisation can vary as funds shift to capital expenses, subsidies, and social assistance. She emphasised quality spending and fiscal flexibility, rejecting claims the shortfall is intentional. Lawmakers criticised stagnant education budget realsation since 2007, urging full allocation without reserves to meet constitutional mandates.

Minimum wages among US workplace rules facing axe

NEW YORK

The US Department of Labor is aiming to rewrite or repeal more than 60 "obsolete" workplace regulations, ranging from minimum wage requirements for home health care workers and people with disabilities to standards governing exposure to harmful substances.

If approved, the wide-ranging changes unveiled this month also would affect working conditions at constructions sites and in mines, and limit the government's ability to penalize employers if workers are injured or killed while engaging in inherently risky activities such as movie stunts or animal training.

The Labor Department says the goal is to reduce costly, burdensome rules imposed under previous administrations, and to deliver on President Donald Trump's commitment to restore American prosperity through deregulation. "The Department of Labor is proud to lead the way by eliminating unnecessary regulations that stifle growth and limit opportunity," Secretary of Labor Lori Chavez-DeRemer said in a statement, which boasted the "most ambitious proposal to slash red tape of any department across the federal government."

Critics say the proposals would put workers at greater risk of harm, with women and members of minority groups bearing a disproportionate impact.

"People are at very great risk of dying on the job already," Rebecca Reindel, the AFL-CIO union's occupational safety and health director, said. "This is something that is only going to make the problem worse."

The proposed changes have several stages to get through before they can take effect, including a public comment period for each one. Last year, the Labor Department finalised rules that provided protections to migrant farmworkers who held H-2A visas.

Banks' net interest margins shrink

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

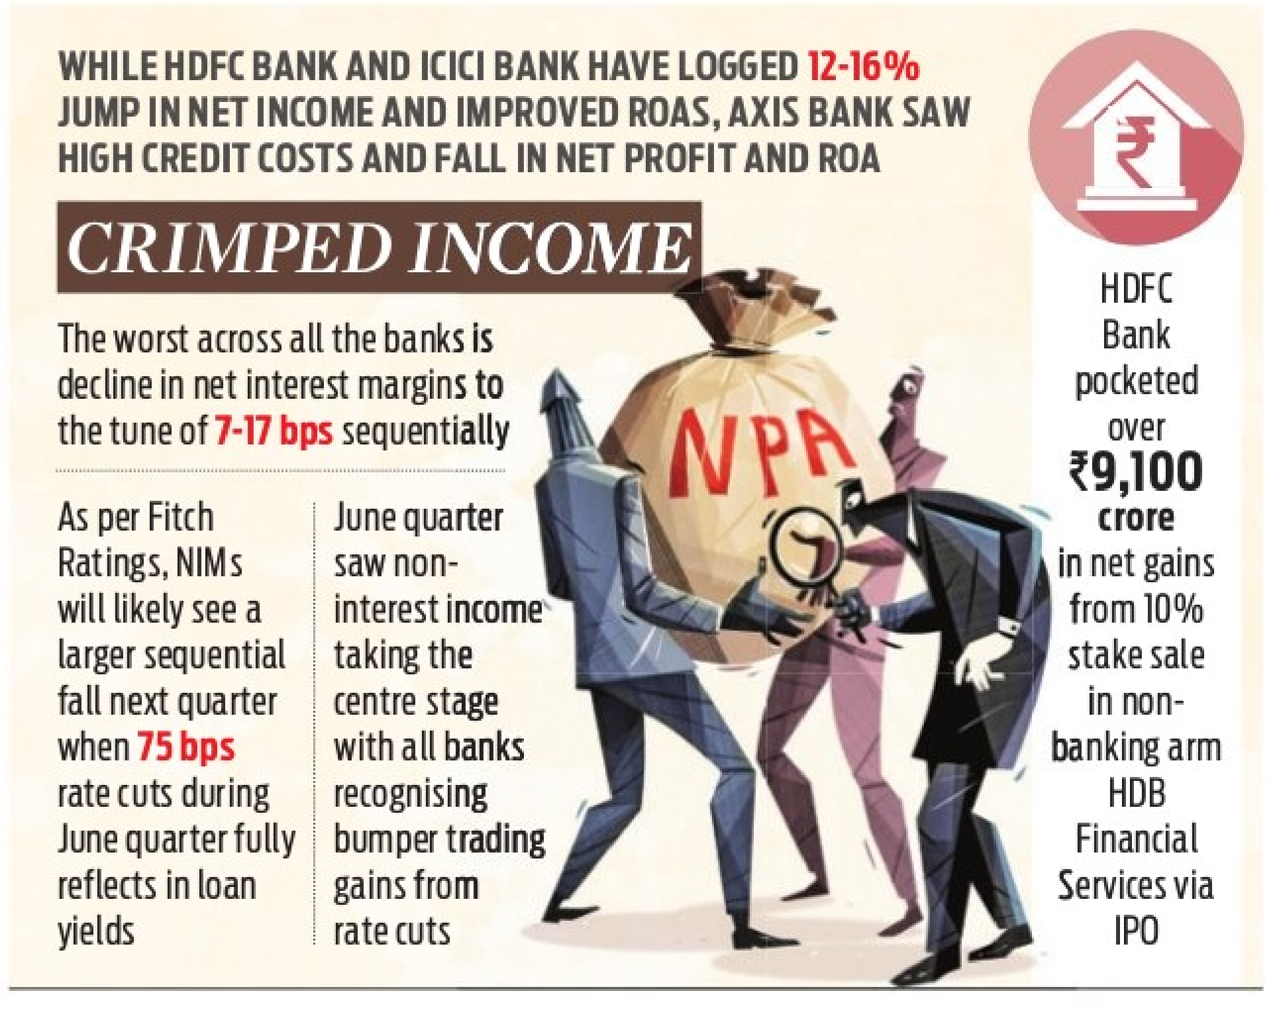
LEADING private sector banks -- HDFC, ICICI and Axis, along with smaller ones like Yes Bank, RBL and AU Bank, the early-birds in the current earnings season have reported mixed numbers with varying profit growth.

However, two sets of negative numbers -- crimped margins and marginal cost but steady rise in provisions – muddies the waters for the sector.

While HDFC Bank and ICICI Bank have logged 12-16% jump in net income and improved RoAs, Axis Bank saw continued high credit costs that resulted in a 4% decline in net profit and RoA.

The worst across all of them is the decline in net interest margins to the tune of 7-17 bps sequentially but as anticipated given the feed through of RBI rate cuts. But again, Axis had the worst here with the largest NIM compression and hence weakest net interest income growth — the key number declined to 3.80% from 4.05% a year ago and from 3.97% in the previous quarter.

According to CreditSights, an arm of Fitch Ratings, NIMs will likely see a larger sequential decline next quarter as the 75 bps of rate cuts during the June quarter become fully reflected in loan yields.



WHILE HDFC BANK AND ICICI BANK HAVE LOGGED 12-16% JUMP IN NET INCOME AND IMPROVED ROAS, AXIS BANK SAW HIGH CREDIT COSTS AND FALL IN NET PROFIT AND ROA

CRIMPED INCOME

The worst across all the banks is decline in net interest margins to the tune of 7-17 bps sequentially

As per Fitch Ratings, NIMs will likely see a larger sequential fall next quarter when 75 bps rate cuts during June quarter fully reflects in loan yields

June quarter saw non-interest income taking the centre stage with all banks recognising bumper trading gains from rate cuts

HDFC Bank pocketed over ₹9,100 crore in net gains from 10% stake sale in non-banking arm HDB Financial Services via IPO

Falling NIMs at a time when lending rates are falling but deposits are still priced higher, means banks will have to look for other sources of income such to protect bottom lines.

Accordingly, the June quarter saw non-interest income taking the centre stage with all the banks recognising bumper trading gains from rate cuts. Also, other income include stake sale from Yes Bank for all these banks with HDFC Bank pocketing over Rs 9,100 crore in net gains from its 10% stake sale in the non-banking arm HDB Financial Services through the IPO.

Fee income had a decent showing across the banks, up 8-10%.On the asset quality front, the report sees it remaining benign at HDFC and ICICI with a slight upward normalisation in credit costs to about 50-60 bps, but for Axis, this was another quarter of elevated credit costs (140 bps; 109 bps ex-technical adjustments), contributed by a technical change in its NPA recognition policy.

On the assets side, loan growth was off to a slow start (just about 0.3-1.8% for these three) and is slightly challenged for the sector given stress in unsecured retail, fierce competition in mortgages from public sector banks and global uncertainties holding back private corporate capex, as such SME/ business banking has been the main sweet spot.

According to Equirus Securities, there is also another common thread—that large banks holding firm but mid-sized ones struggle on NIMs and slippages, with new stress continuing to get formed in the MFI and credit cards books.

Both HDFC and ICICI outperformed others with their resilience on NIMs and asset quality, supported by proactive rate management and strong provisioning buffers. In contrast, mid-sized banks such as AU Bank, and RBL Bank saw sharp NIM compression due to interest reversals and adverse loan mix, though treasury gains offered partial relief, while Yes Bank saw net jumping robustly close to 60% and stable asset quality while NIM gained 10 bps to 2.5%. Like other non-interest income surged 46%, primarily from treasury gains while core fee income grew a modest 3%.

Public sector banks wrote off ₹12 lakh cr in last 10 years: Govt

ENS ECONNOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

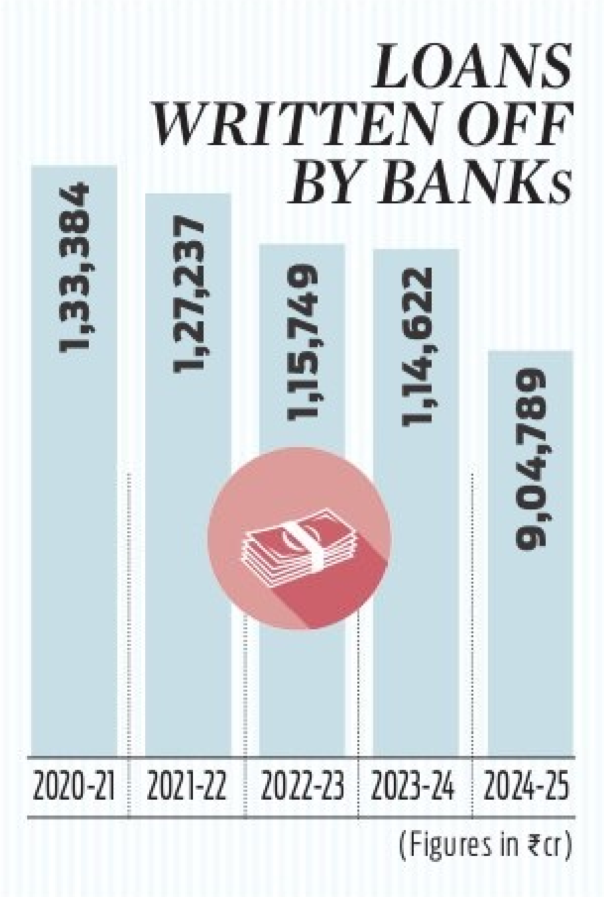
PUBLIC sector banks have written off ₹12.09 lakh crore in loan from 2015-16 to 2024-25, the government told parliament on Tuesday. In the last five years, the written-off loan amount is to the tune of ₹5.82 lakh crore.

India's largest bank – State Bank of India – wrote off the maximum ₹1.14 lakh crore in the last five years followed by Union Bank of India (₹85,540 crore) and Punjab National Bank (₹81,243 crore).

Responding to a question in Rajya Sabha, minister of state in the ministry of finance Pankaj Chaudhary clarified that such write-off doesn't result in waiver of liabilities of borrowers and therefore, it doesn't benefit borrowers. The borrowers continue to be liable for repayment and banks continue to pursue recovery actions initiated in these accounts, he said.

The minister said recovery in written-off loans is an ongoing process and banks continue to pursue their recovery actions initiated against borrowers under various recovery mechanisms available to them. These recovery mechanisms include filing of a suit in civil courts or in Debts Recovery Tribunals, action under the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, filing of cases in the National Company Law Tribunal under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, etc.

Meanwhile, Chaudhary told Rajya Sabha that asset quality of government-owned banks improved sharply with gross NPA levels falling from 9.11% on 31 March 2021 to 2.58% on 31 March 2025.



1,629 borrowers classified as wilful defaulters

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government on Tuesday said that 1,629 unique borrowers with outstanding loan of Rs 1.63 lakh crore were classified as wilful defaulters as on 31 March 2025.

Minister of state for finance Pankaj Chaudhary informed Rajya Sabha on Tuesday that comprehensive measures have been taken to deter wilful default and to recover NPAs, including those from wilful defaulters.

He informed the Lower House of parliament that wilful defaulters are not sanctioned any additional facilities by banks or financial institutions, and their unit is debarred from floating new ventures for five years. Further, he said wilful defaulters and companies with wilful defaulters as promoters/ directors have been debarred from accessing capital markets to raise funds.

Paytm reports ₹123 crore net profit, boosted by strong lending business

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

ONE97 COMMUNICATIONS, the parent of Paytm, on Tuesday reported a consolidated net profit of ₹123 crore in the June quarter as against a net loss of ₹839 crore a year ago.

The digital payment company's profit was boosted by strong lending business that helped it report ₹1,918 crore in revenue, up 28% and a tight leash on expenses. The year-ago quarter saw the company taking full impact of the RBI direction on know-your-customer (KYC) norms, which came into force from mid-February 2024. Operating revenue for the quarter stood at ₹1,918 crore, up 28% YoY and marginally up from ₹1,911 crore in Q4FY25. Total incomerose to ₹2,159 crore. Contribution profit (sales revenue minus all variable costs) rose 52% to ₹1,151 crore, with contribution margin expanding to 60%, up from 50% a year earlier. Total expenses came in at ₹2,016 crore, 19% lower than ₹2,476 crore in the year-ago period, aided by tighter control over employee and marketing spends.

Net payment revenue rose 38% to ₹529 crore, driven by an expanding base of high-quality subscription merchants and better payment processing economics, the company said in a statement on Tuesday. Sequentially, the payments revenue remained largely stable.

Sequentially, the payments revenue remained largely stable. The number of subscription-based merchant devices rose to an all-time high of 1.3 crore in the quarter. Another bottomline booster was reduced capex by optimising device costs and increasing field sales productivity.

'Scrap mandatory ITR filing for refunds'

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE Select Committee of Lok Sabha on the Income Tax Bill, 2025, has recommended removing the mandatory requirement to file a return solely for the purpose of claiming a refund.

It argued that this requirement could inadvertently lead to prosecution, mainly for small taxpayers whose income falls below the taxable threshold but from whom tax has been deducted at source.

The panel suggested that the law should not compel a return merely to avoid penal provisions for non-filing. It recommended removal of sub-clause (1)(ix) from Clause 263 to provide flexibility for allowing refund claims in cases where return is not filed by the due date. Clause 263.1 of the Bill lists the persons and entities who are required to file income tax returns. Clause 263.1 (ix) specifically mentions 'a person who intends to make a claim of refund'.

Tax Return
Personal Details
Status
Income

As per the report, stakeholders who advocated for the omission of this sub-clause argued that Clause (ix), as initially proposed, had the effect of denying a refund to a person if the Return of Income was delayed beyond the specified due date.

Tax experts have contended that the legislature's intent is not to deny a refund to an assessee solely because income return has been filed after the due date. They argue that the presence of clause (ix) in section 263(1)(a) leads to an unintended interpretation that an assessee must file the Return of Income within due date to claim a refund. "The clause (ix) doesn't serve any purpose since it is permissible for a person to furnish a belated return. Accordingly, the omission of the same would avoid unnecessary confusion and unintended hardship to the assessee," they explain.

Who is exempted from filing I-T returns?

Individuals earning below the taxable income threshold are exempt from paying income tax. This limit stands at ₹2.5 lakh annually under the old tax regime and ₹3 lakh under the new tax regime. Additionally, those whose only income source is agriculture or farming are typically exempt from filing income returns, though a threshold for agricultural income may necessitate filing. Certain Non-Resident Indians (NRIs) are also exempt if their income exclusively comes from dividends or interest, or if it's already subject to TDS. Lastly, senior citizens over 75 years of age, whose income consists solely of pension and interest, can also be exempt from filing their ITR.

MODI'S UK TOUR

Cabinet approves India, UK deal ahead of PM visit

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Cabinet on Tuesday approved the free trade agreement between India and the UK. Sources said the pact, officially called a comprehensive economic and trade agreement, will be signed on Thursday during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to London. Commerce and industry minister Piyush Goyal will accompany the Prime Minister. Modi's four-day visit to the UK and the Maldives begins Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said that last-minute work on legal scrubbing of the FTA was still on. "There is the obvious legal scrubbing, etc, that any such agreement needs to go through. We are continuing to work on those and last-minute work is on. We will update you on the final details related to this at the appropriate time," said Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri in a media briefing on Tuesday.

India and the UK finalised the trade deal in May this year. The deal opens up the UK market for Indian goods and services by eliminating tariffs on approximately 99% of tariff lines, covering nearly 100% of the trade value. Labour-intensive sectors in India — such as textiles, footwear, carpets, automobiles, and marine products — which currently face UK tariffs ranging from 4% to 16%, are expected to be among the biggest beneficiaries.

Under the agreement, India will also reduce duties on 90% of tariff lines, with 85% of UK imports becoming duty-free over the next 10 years.

Hyundai receives ₹517.34 crore tax, penalty demand from GST authority

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HYUNDAI Motor India Ltd (HMIL) has received a demand of ₹517.34 crore from tax authorities, along with a penalty, for alleged short payment of GST compensation cess on its certain SUV models.

"The company has received an order from Commissioner (Appeals), CGST Dept, Tamil Nadu, confirming GST compensation Cess demand of ₹258.67 crore along with penalty of ₹258.67 crore on the allegation of short payment of GST compensation cess on Certain SUV Models for the period September 2017 - March 2020," said Hyundai Motor in a statement.

The carmaker said there is no impact on financial, operation or other activities of the company due to this Order. The company is reviewing the order and will exercise right to file appeal.

We are in the process of reviewing the order and will exercise the right to seek a legal remedy through an appropriate forum

Hyundai Motor India spokesperson

"HMIL is of the view that the amendment and the clarifications given by the Central Board of Indirect Tax and Customs (CBIC) to resolve the issue faced by the industry on this matter are in favour of the company. We are in the process of reviewing the order and will exercise the right to seek a legal remedy through an appropriate forum," said HMIL spokesperson.

Last year it was reported that carmakers in India have received notices totalling between ₹8,000 crore and ₹10,000 crore for failing to pay compensation cess levied under the GST on utility vehicle. Sources said GST authority has issued notices to the majority of carmakers for non-payment of cess from the financial year 2018 to 2022 on SUV sales.

At, SUVs attract a GST rate of 28% and an additional compensation cess of 22%, depending on engine capacity, overall length, and ground clearance.

Brokerages bullish on Zomato despite profit fall

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DESPITE a 90% year-on-year drop in Q1FY26 profit, Eternal Ltd (Zomato's parent) assuaged investor concerns with optimistic management commentary and strong growth in its quick commerce business, Blinkit. Brokerages have given the stock a thumbs-up, with analysts predicting that Blinkit's losses have peaked and margin improvements are on the horizon.

Blinkit's revenue during the quarter surged to ₹2,400 crore, surpassing Zomato's food delivery revenue of ₹2,261 crore. Overall, Eternal's consolidated revenue grew 70% YoY to ₹7,167 crore in Q1, exceeding the street estimate. Blinkit's adjusted EBITDA margin improved to -1.8% of net order value (NOV) in Q1FY26 (from -2.4% in 4QFY25), despite adding 243 new dark stores. Eternal management believes absolute losses have peaked and margins will continue to improve as recently opened stores mature.

Eternal cited that there is already a 2.5%+ margin in some cities, reinforcing long-term guidance of 5-6% EBITDA margins. The store count is expected to increase from 1,550 to 2,000 by December 2025.

The effect of Zomato's earnings was seen on the shares of its biggest rival Swiggy which rose 6% to settle at ₹418 apiece. Global brokerage firm Jefferies has upgraded the stock to a 'Buy' rating and raised its price target to Rs 400. It stated that while Q1 performance was mixed, management commentary was significantly positive.

SOUTH KOREA

EXPORTS REMAIN STRONG AS US TARIFF THREAT LOOMS

Exports of South Korea increased in early July despite growing fears of fresh US tariffs. However, officials in Seoul are on edge, as the clock ticks toward an August 1 deadline when broader US duties could take effect. Exports rose 4.1% in the first 20 days of July after adjusting for working-day differences, compared to the same period last year, according to data released by South Korea's customs office on Monday. While the export figure is slightly below June's 6.8% growth, it marks a solid performance amid rising global trade tensions. Unadjusted exports, however, fell 2.2%. Imports declined 4.3%, resulting in a trade surplus of $465 million. US President Donald Trump is expected to decide on a 25% reciprocal tariff on all Korean goods. While that broader measure is still paused, key industries are already feeling the pinch. Auto and steel exports continue to face sector-specific duties, and Trump has warned that semiconductors, South Korea's top export, could be next.

MALAYSIA

INFLATION COOLS AS VEGETABLE PRICES FALL

Food prices in Malaysia showed mixed trends in June. The overall food and beverages group rose by 2.1% year-on-year, according to the Department of Statistics (DOSM). The price of vegetables saw a steep decline of 7.2%, contributing to the moderation in headline inflation to 1.1%. Milk and other dairy products declined by 1.8%, while cereals, meat and fish also recorded softer prices. Food consumed at home declined 0.4%, while commercially prepared meals rose 4.7%, slightly faster than May. Oils and fats rose by 1.7%, while fruits and nuts declined by 0.1% YoY. Core inflation was steady at 1.8% while overall inflation excluding fuel slowed to 1.3%, pointing to broader price stability in consumer essentials. Durable and semi-durable goods experienced more price declines than increases, with only 21 and 41 items, respectively, recording higher costs. Out of 573 tracked goods and services, more than half of the items showed no price changes. Restaurant and accommodation services remained the third-fastest rising category, albeit slowing from 3.0% to 2.8% .

11th player dilemma for India

Eyes on team combination for fourth Test; Haryana pacer Kamboj may debut for visitors

Express in England
FIROZ MIRZA
@MANCHESTER

IT was drizzling even on Tuesday, a day ahead of the fourth Test. The conditions were not ideal for outdoor practice. The wicket was covered most of the time. Inside India dressing room more than the rain outside, getting the right combination would have been their priority.

India skipper Shubman Gill on Tuesday echoed the same sentiment when he said nine or 10 players select themselves automatically for any match depending on their injury status with the one remaining making it to the playing XI after taking into consideration the conditions. It sounded easy but at times fitting in that eleventh player could be very difficult.

On an overcast Tuesday afternoon here at the Old Trafford Cricket Ground, the India captain along with head coach Gautam Gambhir and assistant coach Sitanshu Kotak might be trying to solve that eleventh player puzzle when they gathered near the playing surface, which was uncovered at around 2:15pm to get it match ready.

With Gill making it clear that pacer Akash Deep has been ruled out of the match due to a groin injury, the visitors now have to find two replacements for the fourth Test as all-rounder Nitish Kumar Reddy has already been sidelined and out of the series due to knee injury. India captain revealed injured Akash Deep will be replaced either by Anshul Kamboj or Prasidh Krishna but he refused to reveal anything on the last piece of the jigsaw puzzle. "Sir, let's leave some mystery, yeah, mystery for tomorrow," he said with a grin when tried to prod on the issue.

9 India have played nine matches at the venue so far losing four and drawing five

3rd The fourth Test will be India's only third in the format at Old Trafford. The last two matches were played in 2014 and 1990

Wet conditions meant India could only have an indoor training session a day before the match but B Sai Sudharsan, the Tamil Nadu left-hand batter, one among the few who attended the nets on Tuesday, was seen doing shadow batting with the wicket still covered. Known to follow those rituals ahead of the match, there is a chance of him making a comeback to the playing XI after being dropped from the side following the first match in Leeds.

The India team under coach Gambhir has always been more inclined towards adding to their batting depths and preferred to go with all-rounders instead of selecting an outright bowler. With five specialist bowlers - three pacers in the form of Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Siraj and Kamboj/ Prasidh and two spinners Ravindra Jadeja and Washington Sundar (both are more than handy batters too) at their disposal, inclusion of Sai Sudharsan will be only be extension of their recent philosophy.

If brought back into the playing XI, he can come at No 3, the position he batted at Leeds with Karun Nair, who so far has not made any significant contribution despite getting starts, shifting to No 6 spot. The option, which in turn can reinforce their batting strength, looks more feasible for the visitors especially with the overcast conditions and damp surface due to overcast conditions suited more for bowlers.

With Gill defending Nair, it only lends more weight to the theory. "We think Karun is batting well. It's difficult when a player is making a comeback in a series like this. But I don't think there has been any issue with his batting. Sometimes, it's also about getting that click. Once you are able to make your 50, then you are able to get back into your zone and get some big runs. Unfortunately, that hasn't happened for him so far. But we are hopeful that he will be able to turn around," Gill said when asked about Nair's form.

India have another option in Shardul Thakur, who can also bat down the order. He too has featured in the first match like Sai Sudharsan. More than anything, Thakur can be a like-to-like replacement for all-rounder Reddy.

Whatever the combination India go with, it is going to be different from the past three matches and Gill said it's not easy to frequently tinker with the team composition especially due to injury issues. "It is not ideal when you have to after every match you kind of have to go back and have a different combination. But it was something that I had prepared before the series that there would be a scenario where I would have to have a different combination for every match," said the captain.

Only time will tell which combination India prefer going into the match but one thing is amply clear that Manchester weather will play a big role in their decision.

England's tactics did not uphold spirit of game: Gill

FIROZ MIRZA @Manchester

SHUBMAN Gill has accused England of failing to uphold 'the spirit of the game'. The Indian captain was responding to a question on the shenanigans and the subsequent fallout of the drama centred around England's time-wasting tactics on the third day of the third Test at Lord's.

A little rewind. The England batters had enough time to bat for two overs but Zak Crawley's gamesmanship ensured the hosts only faced one over before stumps were drawn.

"A lot of people have been talking about it, so let me just clear the air once and for all," Gill said. "The English batsmen on that day, they had 7 minutes of play left. They were 90 seconds late to come to the crease. Not 10, not 20, 90 seconds late. Yes, most of the teams, they use this. Even if we were in a position, we would have also liked to play lesser overs. But there is a manner to do it."

Crawley also killed time by keeping Jasprit Bumrah waiting at the top of his run-up a few times. He also called the physio after being hit on the gloves. "We felt, yes, if you get hit on your body, the physios are allowed to come on," Gill said. "That is something that is fair. But to be able to come 90 seconds late is not something that I would think comes in the spirit of the game. And just leading up to that event, a lot of things that we thought should not have happened, it had happened. And it's not, I wouldn't say it was something that I am very proud of. But there was a lead up and build up to that. It didn't just come out of nowhere. And we had no intention of doing that whatsoever. But it just, you are playing a game, you are playing to win and there are a lot of emotions involved. And when you see there are things happening that should not happen, sometimes the emotions come out of nowhere."

Gill had a heated exchanged where he was seen mouthing obscenities with Crawley. This was the incident that lit the touch paper after two largely amicable Test matches. Even though several of the hosts went up to Mohammed Siraj and Ravindra Jadeja to express their commiserations after the tourists had lost the third Test in agonising circumstances, there is promise of more needle in the remaining two Tests.

PITCH COULD HAVE MORE FOR BOWLERS

Speaking on the prevailing weather in Manchester, Gill said the surface will offer a bit more for the bowlers. "Honestly, when I went to see the wicket yesterday (Monday), the wicket didn't look that bad," he said. "But obviously, now having to look at the weather, I don't think there is much chance for the wicket to dry that much. So, I think there would be a little bit more for the bowlers. And generally, on this venue, it is a little bit quicker than the other venues we have seen. There is a bit more pace and bounce. So, we will have to see how the Test match pans out." It rained heavily on Tuesday morning and drizzling continued pretty much throughout the day. Given the fickle weather the city is known for, there is a chance of rain and drizzle with overcast conditions throughout the duration of the match.

England look to seal series

Combination questions and looking skywards has dominated conversations as the fourth Test comes into view. A look at some of the talking points...

KAMBOJ MAY DEBUT

Anshul Kamboj, drafted in a few days ago, could walk into the XI. A fast-bowling all-rounder, he could nominally fill in in the place of the Nitish Reddy. Kamboj is no stranger to English conditions having played a few games for India A against the Lions in the shadow tour.

ENGLAND, A MOMENTS TEAM

It's fair to say that the visitors have dominated large swathes of the series but the hosts have turned up to win most of the important moments. Second afternoon of the first Test, evening of Day Four of the third Test and so on. Can India stop this trend?

JAISWAL V. ARCHER

Yashasvi Jaiswal's still fledgling Test career has already had a lot of highs but he was properly challenged by Jofra Archer in the last game. It's fair to say he struggled and allowed the England pacer to set the tempo. Watch out for this battle.

WEATHER WATCH

In Manchester, as the joke goes, all four seasons in a year can be seen in a few hours. True to form, it's expected to be sunny, some rain and temperatures expected to dip below 13 during the duration of the game. Expect overhead conditions to play a role.

Hosts rope in renowned mental skills coach Enoka

FIROZ MIRZA @Manchester

GILBERT Enoka, a Kiwi mental skills coach who helped the All Blacks clinch back-to-back Rugby World Cups in 2011 and 2015, has joined the England team ahead of the fourth Test in Manchester. Enoka, who most recently worked with Premier League side Chelsea, first had an interaction with the team in May before meeting them in London ahead of their one-off Test against Zimbabwe.

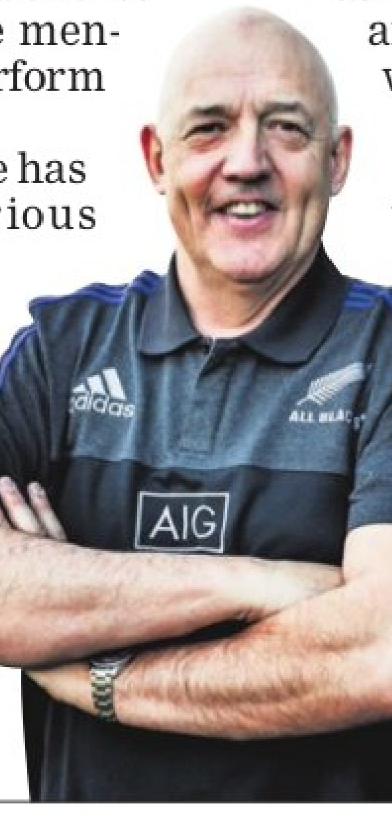
Considered to be close to Brendon McCullum, he had worked with the New Zealand cricket team from 1998 to 2004 and also with their national netball team between 1994 and 1997. Captain Ben Stokes spoke on the new addition and said it will help the England side get better.

"All the time off we had between this summer, me and Baz spoke a lot about what we want to do and how we want to take the team forward. We can say as much as we want, but we don't have the knowledge or the experience in pushing teams on to the next level, where we want to go to," Stokes told reporters in the pre-match press conference on Tuesday.

"So, if you've got the opportunity to have someone come into your group and help you put into words what you want to try and do, and what you want to try and achieve as a team, that's what we needed to do. Luckily, Baz has known Gilbert for a long, long time. I'm sure you've all looked up Gilbert's CV. Pretty good. He's come in, we've spent some time around the team. I think he's been able to put into words what we want to do a lot better than what me and Baz would ever be able to do."

The 57-year-old New Zealander is famous for his 'no dheads policy', a philosophy that advocates elimination of individuals who place themselves before the collective. He has a 21-year association with the All Blacks, first as their mental skills coach and now as All Blacks Manager - Leadership. Enoka strongly believes that players who are mentally prepared will perform better on the day.

Given the results he has delivered with various teams across disciplines over the years, Stokes felt Enoka is the right person to take the England cricket team forward. "I think every team who ends up being as good as they possibly can have done has some extra help come in and help put what we want to achieve into words. We've just given ourselves as much chance as we possibly can of kicking on to where we want to be. We felt that Gilbert was the right person to do that.



"When we spoke, Gilbert asked what my vision was and what Baz's vision was of the team about taking it forward many months ago and he went away and he's just able to put into words to deliver to a group in a very clear and simple way."

Speaking on the cultural shift Enoka's entry into the team brings, he said: "Culture around how we operate as a team on the field, off the field, the meaning of why we do everything. Me and Baz are very big on the choices and options that you take, not only should be involved around you but also around your teammates. Having someone come in and speak from experience around an unbelievable team like he worked with the All Blacks who almost share some of those certain values was nice to hear. We're very similar in that way of our mindset towards what we want to be doing as a team. Culture, how we want to do, how our behaviours are, training, all that kind of stuff about being as good as you possibly can be. It's a lot better coming from someone who's done that and been very successful in team sports like Gilbert has."

His inclusion could do wonders for England.

Argentina football may yet undertake Kerala sojourn

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

KERALA'S hopes of hosting the Argentina Football Team may yet be alive with the Argentine Football Association's marketing director Leandro Petersen confirming that discussions to bring the world champions for a friendly match in Kerala were still alive.

According to the organizers, while speaking at the launch of the partnership between the AFA and financial services conglomerate LuLu Financial Holdings in Dubai, Petersen said that discussions were still underway with state officials but did not reveal any potential dates for such a match to happen.

Kerala had late last year announced that Argentina would be playing a friendly match in the state but there were speculations over it after the AFA announced their friendly schedule for October and November, which did not include India. According to some reports, there were issues with sponsors as well. However, it was cleared by state sports minister in June.

Sciver-Brunt misses out on ton in ODI vs India

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

NAT Sciver-Brunt was dismissed for 98 but her knock gave the hosts a chance of chasing 319 against India in the third ODI at Chester-le-Street on Tuesday. Emma Lamb also contributed with a 68-run knock. For India, it was Kranti Goud who gave breakthrough with two quick wickets. Earlier, Harmanpreet Kaur notched a memorable ton, which helped India set the competitive total of 318/5. The series is level 1-1.

Humpy, Divya draw opening semis

ENS @Chennai

BOTH Koneru Humpy and Divya Deshmukh drew their opening ties of the two-match semifinal of the women's World Cup in Batumi on Tuesday.

Deshmukh, the IM on a giant-killing spree, held firm with the black pieces to deny China's Tan Zhongyi any opening. In a rook-centred endgame with three pawns apiece, the players signed truce after only 30 moves. On Wednesday, the Indian teen, who took out second seed Zhu Jiner in the round of 16, plays with the white pieces.

After the pair shook hands, Humpy and Lei Tingjie followed soon after as they decided to halt hostilities after 38 moves. Tingjie did have a small opening in the middlegame after the Indian veteran had made an inaccuracy (17. Nde5) but the Chinese didn't play the best follow-up move to push the Indian. On Wednesday, Humpy will play with white for a place in the final. No Indian woman has ever won the women's World Cup.

The World Cup is of added significance as each of the top three earns a spot in next year's women's Candidates from where the topper will face the champion in the women's World Championship. One of Humpy or Deshmukh will take their place in the Candidates but both of them will be on the bus to the Candidates as long as they win the semifinal. Results (semifinal; game 1): Divya D (0.5) drew with T Zhongyi (0.5), K Humpy (0.5) drew with L Tingjie (0.5). Divya and Humpy will play with white pieces on Wednesday. If tied, tie-breakers with shorter time control on Thursday.

Sports Governance Bill to be tabled in Parliament today

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

THE much-awaited Sports Bill is set to see daylight soon. As reported by this newspaper, the National Sports Governance Bill, 2025 is set to be tabled on Wednesday. The Bill will usher in a new era in sports governance in the country.

As pointed out by this newspaper, the high point would be one set of rules that would govern all sporting bodies (National Sports Bodies — NSB) unlike what the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) or the National Sports Federations (NSFs) are following at the moment. As per drafts bills that had been in circulation earlier, all the sports federations, IOA, the NSFs, the Paralympic Committees and regional sports associations have been categorised under one head -- NSB. The Bill would look to bring in uniformity transparency and accountability in all NSBs.

The Bill is expected to constitute a National Sports Board that will give recognition to the NSBs. The board will monitor everything from governance, accountability to transparency. It has to power to grant recognition like what the sports ministry does right now and would have the power to strip recognition as well. Apart from the NSB, there would be an election panel that would look after elections of the sports bodies.

As reported by this newspaper, even cricket could be part of it because it being a sports body and also that now it is part of the Olympics, it should be governed by the Olympic Charter. However, it needs to be seen if they would want to be following the provisions of the Bill. The Bill considers all sports organisations as a public authority under the Right to Information Act, 2005 and this could be a sticky subject for the BCCI. The sports ministry has indicated that all sports bodies including cricket will be governed by the Act when implemented but it needs to be seen how much the BCCI would like to follow.

Anti-doping Act

Along with the Sports Governance Bill, the ministry is going to table the National Anti-Doping Act that needed modification after the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) objected to certain provisions.

GLIMPSES OF THE FIRST STARS

NASA'S ROMAN SPACE TELESCOPE, SET TO LAUNCH IN 2027, WILL HELP CAPTURE 100,000 COSMIC EXPLOSIONS

NASA's Nancy Grace Roman Space Telescope is preparing to launch a deep-sky survey that could detect nearly 100,000 cosmic explosions. These range from supernovae to feeding black holes and could offer critical insights into dark energy, black hole physics, and the early universe.

At the heart of this effort is the High-Latitude Time-Domain Survey, which will scan the same vast region of the sky every five days for two years. The goal: to catch transient phenomena like type Ia supernovae, which serve as cosmic distance markers because they shine with a known brightness. Roman's sensitivity and reach could allow astronomers to spot ancient supernovae dating back more than 11.5 billion years, shedding light on the evolution of the cosmos.

Simulations suggest this ambitious program could reveal around 27,000 type Ia supernovae—nearly ten times more than all previous surveys combined. These findings could refine measurements of how fast the universe has expanded over time and provide new evidence about the nature of dark energy, the mysterious force believed to drive the accelerating expansion of the universe.

Illuminating dark energy

"Whether you want to explore dark energy, dying stars, galactic powerhouses, or even entirely new things we've never seen before, this survey will be a gold mine," says Benjamin Rose, an assistant professor at Baylor University, who led a recent study on the project. The results appear in The Astrophysical Journal.

The survey's design—frequent, deep imaging of the same region means scientists will be able to piece together time-lapse views of distant space, essentially creating cosmic movies. Type Ia supernovae will be a primary target because they allow scientists to trace the universe's expansion across different eras.

While most previously detected type Ia supernovae occurred within the last 8 billion years, Roman is expected to observe more than 1,000 that exploded over 10 billion years ago, and possibly dozens from 11.5 billion years back. Roman may set a new record for the farthest known type Ia supernova and fill a major gap in our understanding of the universe's early expansion.

"Filling these data gaps could also fill in gaps in our understanding of dark energy," Rose explains. "Evidence is mounting that dark energy has changed over time, and Roman will help us explore that by looking deeper into cosmic history than ever before."

The survey won't just detect type Ia supernovae. Roman is also expected to spot around 60,000 core-collapse supernovae, which occur when massive stars exhaust their fuel and collapse under their own gravity.

Unlike type Ia supernovae, which involve white dwarfs in binary systems, core-collapse events stem from single massive stars and aren't as useful for measuring cosmic distances. However, their explosions can look deceptively similar when viewed from billions of light-years away.

"By tracking how an object's light changes over time and splitting it into a spectrum — breaking it into individual colors that carry physical signatures — we can tell different types of events apart," says Rebekah Hounsell, an assistant research scientist at the University of Maryland-Baltimore County and NASA Goddard Space Flight Center.

Roman's data will allow scientists to train machine learning models to identify different types of explosions. "Roman's search for type Ia supernovae will generate lots of cosmic 'bycatch' — events not directly related to dark energy, but extremely valuable to other areas of astrophysics," Hounsell adds.

Hunting rare and exotic events

Roman's powerful, wide-field infrared imaging makes it particularly suited to finding extremely rare phenomena that current telescopes struggle to catch. These include:

1 Tidal disruption events, in which a black hole tears apart a passing star. The hot debris creates a bright flare, visible across vast distances. Roman is expected to detect about 40 of these

2 Superluminous supernovae, which can be up to 100 times brighter than normal ones. Roman may observe around 90, helping astronomers better understand what fuels their intense energy.

3 Kilonovae, dramatic explosions triggered by the collision of two neutron stars. These events produce heavy elements like gold and platinum and remain poorly understood. So far, only one kilonova has been definitively observed, but Roman could detect at least five more, shedding light on their origins and aftermaths—whether they leave behind a neutron star, black hole, or something else.

Perhaps most exciting is Roman's potential to spot explosions from some of the universe's very first stars. These stars were extremely massive — possibly hundreds of times the mass of our Sun — and lacked heavy elements, making them structurally and chemically distinct from modern stars.

Scientists theorise that the first stars exploded as pair-instability supernovae, a rare type of blast triggered when intense gamma radiation creates matter-antimatter pairs, destabilising the star and causing a total self-destruction. These explosions are thought to leave no remnants behind.

So far, only a handful of candidate pair-instability supernovae have been found, none confirmed. Roman, however, may change that.

"I think Roman will make the first confirmed detection of a pair-instability supernova," Rose says. The simulation suggests it could spot more than 10 of them. "They're incredibly rare and far away. You need a telescope that can scan a huge volume of sky with deep, near-infrared sensitivity — and that's exactly what Roman offers."

A tool for the unexpected

Beyond its known targets, Roman is likely to uncover entirely new phenomena. Future simulations could include additional classes of transient objects like variable stars, active galaxies, and more. Roman's discoveries will likely serve as triggers for follow-up observations from other telescopes working in different wavelengths — such as X-rays or radio — to gather complementary data.

"Roman's going to find a whole bunch of weird and wonderful things out in space, including some we haven't even thought of yet," Hounsell says. "We're definitely expecting the unexpected."

The telescope is scheduled to begin science operations in 2027. With its sweeping vision and high cadence, the Roman Space Telescope promises not just to rewrite what we know about cosmic explosions but to uncover phenomena we haven't even imagined.

MAGIC RETRIEVAL

BRINGING THEM BACK FROM BRINK OF EXTINCTION

HAVING driven over hundreds of species to extinction after their arrival on Earth, a new alternative is now being considered by humans to slow down extinction rate or even save endangered species. A team of scientists has called for a transformative solution to restore genetic diversity and save endangered species by repurposing gene editing technologies. This involves altering genetic material of living organisms by replacing, deleting or inserting DNA sequence with an eye on improving survivability or correcting genetic disorders to ensure the resilience of the species. The said team is multidisciplinary in nature, involving conservation geneticists and biotechnologists from University of East Anglia, Colossal Foundation, the Durrell Institute of Conservation and Ecology (University of Kent), Globe Institute (University of Copenhagen), Mauritius Wildlife Foundation, the Mauritius National Parks and Conservation Service, and Durrell Wildlife Conservation Trust. The scientists say this technique has the potential to recover lost genetic diversity in species at risk of extinction using samples, such as DNA from museum collections, biobanks, and also from related species. The thought behind this approach is that the world is currently witnessing the fastest environmental change in history, and many species have lost the genetic variation needed to adapt and survive. The idea is to reintroduce gene variations by retrieving them from museum specimens or borrowing climate-tolerant genes from closely related species. Species' populations can suffer diminished genetic variation and a high load of harmful mutations – called genomic erosion. Without intervention, such species can be genetically compromised with reduced resilience to threats like new diseases or shifting climates. As a proof of concept, the team cites the example of bringing back the pink pigeon from the brink, from 10 individuals to a population of over 600 post decades of captive breeding in Mauritius. Gene editing is commonly being used in agriculture to develop crops resistant to pests and drought across the world. But applying this technique to animal and bird species knocks at the gates of bringing extinct species back to life.

BEHIND THE SCIENCE

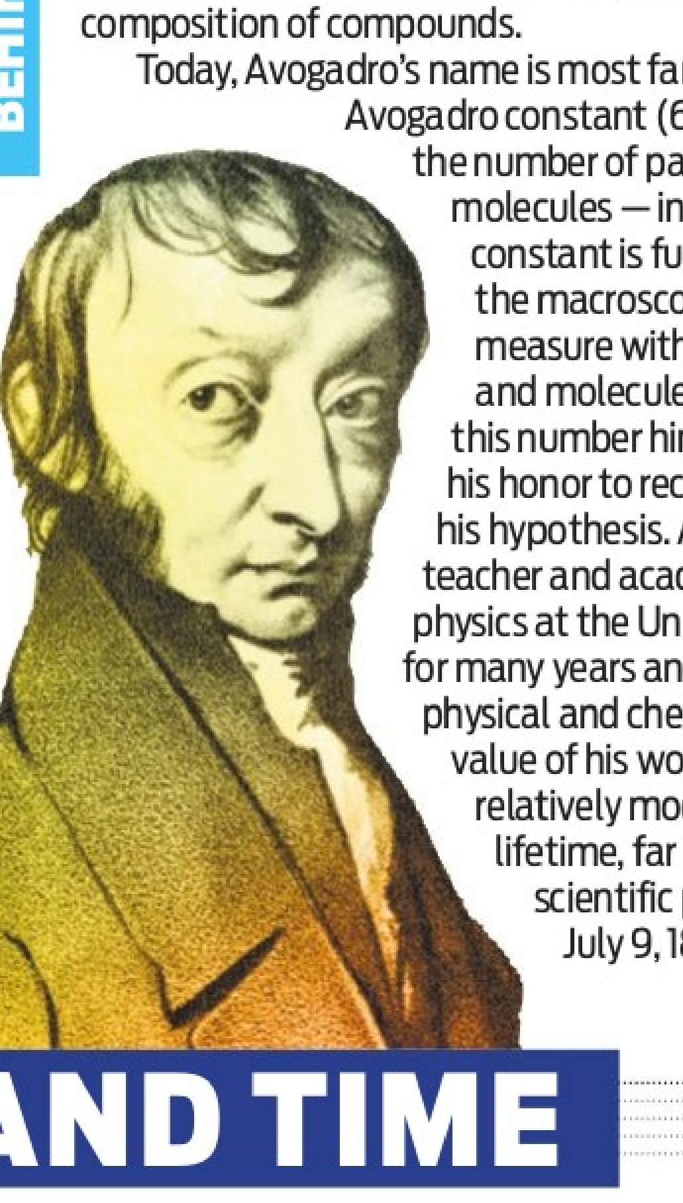
AMEDEO AVOGADRO
Pioneer of Molecular Theory

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE

MOLECULAR chemistry specifically focuses on the study and synthesis of molecules, and Amedeo Avogadro not only played an integral role in pioneering this field, but also reshaping chemistry as a whole. Avogadro was born on August 9, 1776, in Turin, Italy, which was then part of the Kingdom of Sardinia. Born into a noble family, Avogadro initially pursued a career in law, earning his doctorate in ecclesiastical law aged 20. However, his interest gradually shifted toward mathematics and natural sciences, leading him to become one of the most influential figures in early molecular chemistry.

Avogadro is best known for his groundbreaking hypothesis proposed in 1811, which laid the foundation for what is now called Avogadro's Law. He suggested that equal volumes of gases, at the same temperature and pressure, contain an equal number of molecules. At the time, this was a bold and controversial idea because the distinction between atoms and molecules was still unclear. Avogadro's proposal helped clarify this confusion and became a cornerstone of molecular theory, although it was not widely accepted until decades later. His ideas remained obscure until Stanislao Cannizzaro, another Italian scientist, championed Avogadro's work at the Karlsruhe Congress in 1860. This meeting of European chemists led to the adoption of Avogadro's hypothesis as a key principle in chemical science. His insight allowed chemists to accurately determine molecular weights and understand the composition of compounds.

Today, Avogadro's name is most famously associated with the Avogadro constant (6.022×10^{23}), which represents the number of particles — such as atoms or molecules — in one mole of a substance. This constant is fundamental to chemistry, linking the macroscopic scale of substances we measure with the microscopic world of atoms and molecules. Although he never calculated this number himself, the constant was named in his honor to recognize the foundational nature of his hypothesis. Avogadro was also a dedicated teacher and academic. He held a professorship in physics at the University of Turin, where he taught for many years and published extensively on physical and chemical topics. Despite the scientific value of his work, Avogadro remained a relatively modest and private figure during his lifetime, far less famous than many of his scientific peers. Amedeo Avogadro died on July 9, 1856, in Turin.



HOW IT WORKS

SPEED OF LIGHT THROUGH SCIENCE AND TIME

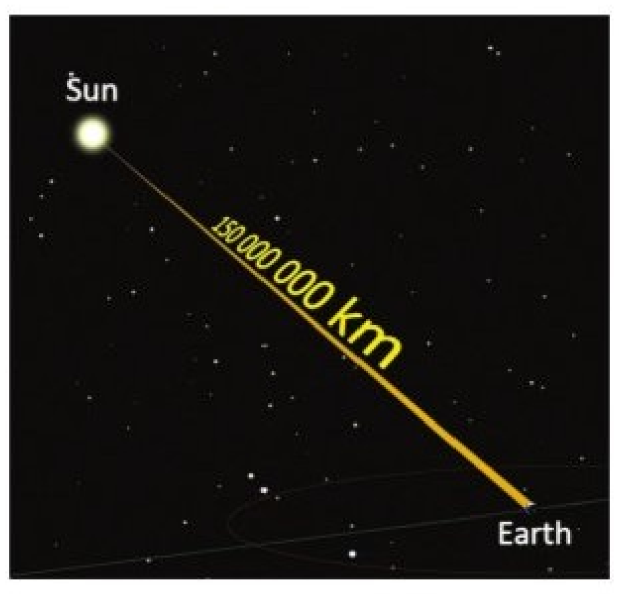
HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE

THE discovery of the speed of light stands as one of the great milestones in the history of science. From ancient philosophical debates to precise modern measurements, the journey to understand how fast light travels has involved centuries of inquiry and some of the most brilliant minds in physics. This discovery not only helped shape classical physics but also laid the foundation for modern theories of space and time.

In antiquity, philosophers like Empedocles and Aristotle debated whether light had a finite speed or was instantaneous. Aristotle believed light's transmission was immediate, while Empedocles suggested it moved with finite speed. However, these were purely speculative views; the scientific journey began in earnest in the 17th century.

The first quantitative step was taken by Ole Romer, a Danish astronomer, in 1676. Observing the eclipses of Jupiter's moon Io, Romer noticed discrepancies in timing based on Earth's position relative to Jupiter. He concluded that light took time to travel across space, and from his observations, he estimated light's speed to be around 220,000 km/s. Though not accurate by modern standards, Romer's work was the first to demonstrate that light did not travel instantaneously.

Later, in 1728, James Bradley, an English astronomer, discovered the phenomenon of stellar aberration — an apparent shift in the position of stars due to the Earth's motion. This effect could only be explained if light had a finite speed. From this, Bradley estimated the speed of light to be around 295,000 km/s, much closer to the true value.



Light from the Sun takes 8 minutes and 20 seconds to reach Earth

A major breakthrough came in 1849 when French physicist Hippolyte Fizeau became the first to measure the speed of light using a terrestrial experiment. He employed a rotating toothed wheel to chop a beam of light, sending it to a mirror 8.6 km away and measuring how fast the wheel needed to spin before the returning light was blocked by the next tooth. Fizeau calculated the speed of light to be approximately 313,000 km/s. His experiment was the first to use mechanical timing rather than astronomical observations and proved that precise measurements could be made in a laboratory setting.

In 1862, French physicist Leon Foucault, building on Fizeau's work, used rotating mirrors instead of a toothed wheel and refined the measurement further, obtaining a value very close to today's accepted figure. His work also confirmed that light travels more slowly in water than in air, supporting the wave theory of light.

The final leap came with Albert Einstein in the early 20th century. In his theory of special relativity (1905), Einstein postulated that the speed of light in a vacuum is constant and independent of the observer's motion. This idea revolutionized physics, showing that space and time are interwoven and relative.

From philosophical speculation to empirical precision, the discovery of the speed of light is a testament to human curiosity and ingenuity. It showcases how observation, experimentation, and theory can converge to unlock the secrets of nature.

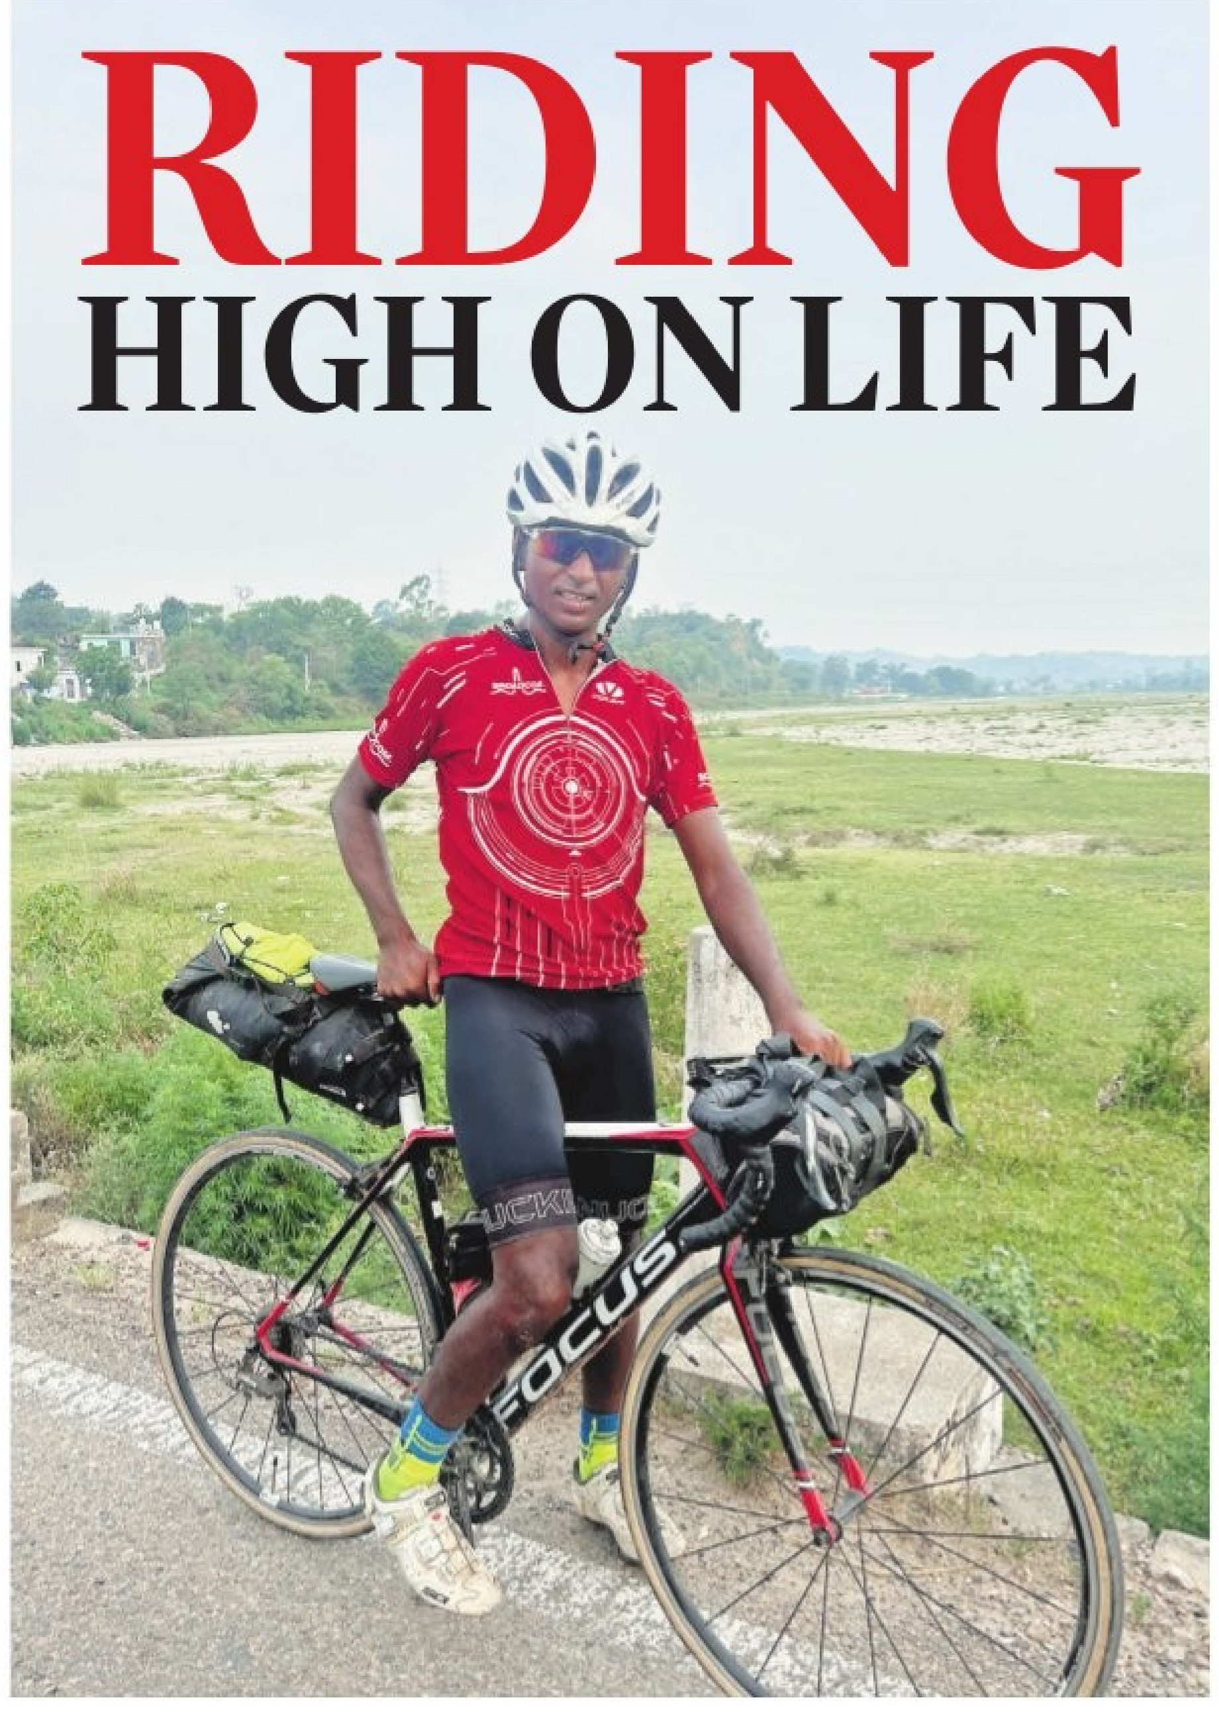
RIDING HIGH ON LIFE



IT professional Vivek Anandan recently cycled 3,200km from B'luru to Srinagar as a part of his battle against the bottle, arriving in Kashmir just as the ceasefire between India and Pakistan was declared

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

POETS, saints, travellers and even mythical rulers across centuries have made the journey mapping the length of this country – people who were in search of adventure, knowledge, spiritual clarity, or perhaps the feeling that comes when you are alone with yourself, confronted by all that you are, all that you fall short of and all that you wish to be.

It seems to be the latter for Vivek Anandan, a techie who recently bicycled 3,200 kilometres alone from Bengaluru to Srinagar as a part of a mission to reclaim his life after quitting alcohol.

Anandan recounts the hurricane raging inside his mind as he traversed cities, forests, and deserts, saying, "I was carrying a lot of resentment inside me, especially towards my family, who had suggested rehab. I could not accept that they did it for my sake, so that I could be a good human being, father, and husband. I was quite emotional. Sometimes I would cry on the road thinking about everything that had happened. The trip was a cathartic experience."

The catharsis started at a rehab in 2024. Anandan left the centre in October, determined to turn things around. With unwavering support from his family, he returned to his long-time love for bicycling. "Since 2008, I used to cycle to work every day and was a part of riding communities. On weekends, we used to ride over 100km to places like Nanjangud, Nandi Hills and Hoskote. I even did a peninsular ride through major places in South India," he says.

Things came to a head during the Covid pandemic's work-from-home shift when he started drinking more. "Alcohol started consuming me," he smiles.

With time to reset and reboot during rehab, he began to long for the joy of riding again. Once he was out, he started training regularly. "My wife motivated me, reminding me that cycling is my happy medicine. I started cycling every day on scenic roads, sometimes 70km and sometimes 100km. My best was 230, much more than my drinking days," he says, adding that he would end up covering 1,000 to 1,500km each month.

Having trained for 8 months, Anandan impulsively decided to ride to Kashmir on the morning of May 7. "I didn't tell my family the destination, just that I'm going for a two-week ride, assembled the bike and a backpack and started off," he says, adding that it was only from people he met on the road that he heard about escalating hostilities between India and Pakistan and just how dangerous his destination was becoming. "I thought, if the authorities stop me, I'll come back, but my gut was still saying 'let's do it'. Only when I reached the Jammu border did I find out that a ceasefire had been declared," says Anandan.

He paints a tense picture of Srinagar as he arrived there after 19 long days on the road. He recalls deserted streets and a high military presence, putting him on edge. "There were no tourists, only locals and the Army. Whenever I reached for my pocket, I heard a sound and saw camouflaged army men in the bushes. I was very cautious, didn't take many pictures, checked the news regularly and asked the locals while travelling through the region," he recalls.

> Controlling my mind was the most challenging part. I was determined not to touch even a beer in the name of unwinding or socialising (in Srinagar). This built a lot of mental resilience in me
>
> Vivek Anandan

For him, the long journey through India's landscape was less about sightseeing and more about a single-minded goal to reach Srinagar. "Controlling my mind was the most challenging part. I was determined not to touch even a beer in the name of unwinding or socialising. This built a lot of mental resilience in me," he says.

Anandan, who is currently seeking to restart his professional career, says his trip is a message against substance abuse and the stigma around it. "Social support is vital. And that's lacking here," he shrugs.

That, however, does not deter him. Anandan's next mission is to the northeast, and his ultimate dream is to do a world tour. "Chasing the high of life is any day better than booze," he smiles, giving a thumbs-up.

TRANSL(AI)TING NARRATIVES

NAAV AI, co-founded by author-historian Vikram Sampath, blends modern technology and literary depth to bridge language gaps, ensuring readers have access to long-form content in the language of their comfort

ANJALI RAM

IN this digital era, it is nearly impossible to turn a blind eye to the technological advances and the emergence of artificial intelligence (AI) in every sector. Though gradually, the publishing industry too is doing its share of experiments to adapt to the new change.

One such revelation in the sector, leveraged by the technology, is NAAV AI (Navigating AI across Vocabularies). Co-founded by author and historian Vikram Sampath and technologist Sandeep Singh, the project aims to bridge the language gap in India, making literary content accessible to readers across the country.

According to Sampath, the idea for NAAV AI was born out of his personal experience with book translations. "It takes eight to nine months to translate a book, and by the time it is published, the buzz around the book would have been lost," he says, highlighting the challenges of conventional translation methods.

"Today, there is a huge demand, particularly in the regional language space – be it books or podcasts. About five to six per cent of Indians consume content in English, whereas a survey that was done earlier says around 98 per cent of Internet users in India consume content in regional languages. The supply is not just to meet the demand, but to cater to those who prefer consuming content in their mother tongue or language of comfort," he notes.

Sampath also stresses the importance of translation and literature travelling beyond the language barrier, stating, "Today, we have Banu Mushtaq, who otherwise was probably not an author beyond Karnataka. Kannada language is now being recognised globally, and that is the power of translation.

But is AI enough to do the job? Sampath emphasises the role of human interference in the process of translation, stating, "When it comes to literature and creative spaces, it can't be completely left to the machine or the AI to derive meaning."

For him, this is a point where creativity meets technology, where having a human in the loop preserves the cultural nuances of the context. "Translation using AI is like teaching a child to speak a language. As more books come in the pipeline, language experts will start getting better, but at no point will human being in the loop ever vanish because it's a creative process, he says, adding, "We have hired professional translators, linguists and language experts who will go through these books line by line and then come out with corrections."

According to him, AI in the publishing and translation industry is a tool that can enhance productivity by assisting rather than replacing human labour and creativity. "What AI is doing here is not replacing the translators, but improving efficiency and productivity. If one was taking them six months to finish, now, with AI assistance, they will be able to complete it in four weeks," he explains.

HOW DOES NAAV AI WORK?

According to the co-founder and technologist Sandeep Singh, NAAV AI supports multiple regional languages using a multimodel approach. "We use a multi-model approach where there are a lot of models, like cloud GPT. We have served on the Critter and other Indian LLM models as well. We are also doing refinement of these models because, as we review these books as part of this entire process, the language experts review them initially as they get to read the first draft and make corrections. If they find that a certain sentence is not communicating or it's not readable, they replace that word," says Singh, adding, "This feedback, which they provide, will be collected in a data set which is used for the refinement of the model. So each time this creates a large corpus of data, it is used for future translations to improve certain aspects of the context and other nuances. At present, with humans, the AI and the right selections of the model, it is ensured that the end outcome has all the required elements."

Sampath sees AI as an enabling tool and believes there is no escaping it. "AI is the future. It should be seen as an enabling tool and not as a threat to anybody. And the humans should ensure that a safe culture is maintained for it and the creative element is not taken away," he says.

As Kyunki Saas Bhi Kabhi Bahu Thi 2 returns to screens, designer Gaurang Shah brings a fresh & nostalgic take on Tulsi's iconic look

Tulsi 2.0: Classic meets contemporary

SHREYA VERONICA

AS audiences eagerly await the return of Kyunki Saas Bhi Kabhi Bahu Thi 2, one name stands out among all: Tulsi. Played by actor-politician Smriti Irani, Tulsi was more than just a character; she became a household name when the show first aired 25 years ago. Now, as the saga continues, fans are not only curious about how the story will unfold but also excited to see what Tulsi will look like in the new chapter. To make her return even more iconic, renowned designer Gaurang Shah has been roped in to design Tulsi's wardrobe for the series. Known for his masterful use of traditional handlooms and intricate weaves, Shah speaks to CE about his vision for the character's look and the craft behind it.

Excerpts

Can you talk about Tulsi's outfits in the new season?

Tulsi's outfits have always been more than just clothes; they carry emotion, memory, and meaning. For this new chapter, I've chosen weaves that embody her inner strength, grace, and timeless appeal. The textiles are handwoven, rooted in tradition, yet fluid, just like Tulsi herself.

Will she be wearing different outfits from your collection throughout the series?

Absolutely. We've created multiple looks for her, each reflecting a specific mood or turning point in her journey. While I can't reveal too much before the show airs, the intention was to let the textiles evolve with her story, mirroring her transformation.

Tell us about the materials used.

The collection is a fusion of tradition and comfort. We've worked with soft kanjeevarams in chiffon, richly-dyed bandhanis, intricate jamdani weaves with storytelling motifs, and precise double ikkat. Every fabric was chosen to reflect Tulsi's essence, her rootedness and quiet strength.

What kind of designs can the audience expect?

Expect a thoughtful blend; traditional motifs reimagined, sarees that feel both classic and contemporary. The designs are detailed but not overwhelming. They're sophisticated, understated, and full of soul – just like Tulsi.

Gaurang Shah

Is any other character in the show wearing your designs?

As of now, the focus has been entirely on Tulsi. Her presence, both on screen and in our cultural memory, is so powerful that designing for her alone has been a rich and immersive experience.

How was it working with Smriti Irani?

It was truly an honour. Smriti brings depth and clarity to everything she does. Designing for her meant understanding the emotional and cultural weight she brings to Tulsi. She adds meaning to the fabric itself. According to Smriti: 'Gaurang Shah has not just designed sarees; he has woven stories, traditions, and modernity into every thread. For Kyunki Saas Bhi Kabhi Bahu Thi, his work brought alive the soul of Indian craft through the artistry of our weavers. A timeless confluence of heritage and contemporary thought, his creations are nothing short of magic on cloth.'

Will her outfits evoke nostalgia?

I believe they will. The drapes, the hues, the textures, there's a sense of familiarity. But we weren't trying to replicate the past. It's a continuation. Nostalgia, yes, but also evolution. That duality is what we aimed for.

What's next in your design journey?

I'm continuing to work on collections that celebrate storytelling through textiles, whether it's jamdani, khadi, or reviving forgotten techniques. The focus remains on handloom and on honouring Indian craft in everyday life. There's something special brewing, but I'll share more soon.

① While Kengal Hanumanthaiah (the second Chief Minister of Karnataka) called it the 'people's palace', poet Kuvempu described it as 'poetry in stone'. The foundation stone of this architectural marvel was laid in 1951 and was built in 1956 with a mix of Neo-Dravidian and Indo-Saracenic style of architecture. 'Government work is God's work' and its Kannada version 'Sarkarada Kelasa Devara Kelasa', an eye-catching slogan, is inscribed at its grand entrance facade. Name this iconic building in Bengaluru conceived as a 'temple of democracy'?

③ Mayo Hall was built in 1883 in memory of Lord Mayo, the 4th Viceroy of India. It initially housed the municipal offices of Bangalore Civil and Military Station (Cantonment). On which prominent road in Bangalore is the iconic heritage building located? MG Road or Cubbon Road?

How to start a shawarma joint

Running a shawarma joint may seem simple, but standing out in a crowded, fast-paced market takes more than good wraps. This blueprint outlines the essential steps.

Concept: Traditional or fusion? Dine-in or takeaway? Budget or premium? Define your target customer: students, office-goers, night owls? Back it with market research. Build a lean business plan with a focus on pricing, food costs, licenses, and daily projections.

Location: Pick high-footfall zones near colleges, offices, or nightlife spots. Ensure visibility, delivery access, and late-hour appeal. A compact, efficient layout is key. Optimise kitchen flow and quick customer turnover.

Staff and system: Train grill chefs and service staff for speed, hygiene, and consistency. Use systems – POS, inventory tools, standardised prep – to keep costs tight and quality high. Create SOPs for every process to ensure consistency across busy hours.

Create buzz: Hype up your joint with street promotions, influencer tie-ups, and quirky branding. Stay visible online with Swiggy or Zomato listings, reels, and loyalty offers. Respond to reviews without fail.

Stay lean, monitor daily: Optimise your menu based on fast movers and customer feedback. Reinvest in better ingredients or tech. Be consistent, fast, and clean.

FITBIT

ASHTA CHANDRASANA UTTHITA HASTA MUKULA

(HIGH LUNGE ARMS EXTENDED FINGERS TOGETHER)

This is a creative variation of the standing-balancing foundational pose, Ashta Chandrasana (High Lunge Pose). Included in therapeutic yoga sequences as it relieves tension or stiffness in the neck and shoulders. It also counteracts the ageing effects of muscles becoming hard and dry for students who spend long hours seated at their desks or even those adopting poor posture.

STEPS

- Start in Adho Mukha Svanasana and stay here for a breath or two.
- Take a deep breath in. Exhale and step your left foot between your hands, placing it on the mat so the left knee is directly above the left ankle. Ensure the back (right) heel is lifted off the ground. Take a couple of breaths here, keeping the front thigh parallel to the floor.
- Take a big breath in and pull your navel into the spine. Roll your shoulders back and bring your hands to your waist as you exhale. The back heel is pressed towards the back of the mat. Keep the inner thighs engaged. Open your chest and shoulders.
- Now, inhale and lift your upper body straight towards the sky, pressing into the front leg. Straighten your right hand forward with the wrist flexed. Reach your other arm behind, moving it away from the body. The right hand is at shoulder level, with fingers together and pointing up. The left arm is comfortable, away from the body, with the palm facing down, fingers together, pointing down.
- Stay here for about six breaths or as per capacity. Slowly release the pose and return to realign in Adho Mukha Svanasana. Repeat the stretch on the other side.
- Finally, slide down into Child Pose and relax.

LIMITATIONS

- Students who have any injury to the knees or hips should avoid this.
- Tightening of breath or holding of breath is advised against for those with blood pressure. They should perform under the guidance of a yoga teacher or avoid practice.

BENEFITS

- Good warm-up and is a joint- freeing exercise.
- It helps women fighting menstrual symptoms, PCOD/PCOS, or hormonal imbalances.
- Included in Vinyasa Yoga and yoga for sportspeople.
- Stretches and strengthens muscles and joints involved.
- Activates the organs related to the respiratory system.
- Keeps the nasal passage clear.
- Activates the circulatory system and maintains a good metabolism.

A Bangalore Detectives Club Mystery
INTO THE LEOPARD'S DEN
HARINI NAGENDRA
"Masterfully melds character, plot, and period detail in [this] transporting historical mystery. Top-shelf suspense." —Publishers Weekly (starred)

Harini Nagendra's newest instalment in the best-selling series, Bangalore Detectives Club, sees protagonist Kaveri solving mysteries across 1920s B'luru & the forests of Kodagu

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

An elderly woman lies bleeding out on the floor of her ramshackle hut – an intruder turning her home inside out in search of something she refuses to surrender. As this mysterious killer discovers the object and flees, she clutches a picture of Bengaluru's famous female detective Kaveri. Thrusting it into the hands of a boy who discovers her, she breathes her last with a plea on her lips – find the killer.

Into the Leopard's Den (₹499; Hachette), the fourth volume of writer Harini Nagendra's best-selling cosy mystery series, Bangalore Detectives Club, dives straight into the tangled knots of this mystery, with the now pregnant 21-year-old detective, Kaveri, determined to unravel them all.

This time, the case leads her to the lush coffee plantations of Kodagu, leaving her motley crew of inquisitive neighbour aunty Uma, street urchin Venu and housemaid Anandi to investigate in Bengaluru. "While staying in the house of coffee plantation owner Lakamma, she learns of stories of a ghost leopard terrorising the place and scaring the workers away. At the same time, an exploitative British plantation owner's life is in danger from multiple attacks," explains Nagendra.

As an ecologist, the author's environmental concerns come to the forefront stronger than in the previous three instalments, addressing colonialism's ecological destruction alongside the murder mystery. "You get an insight into the time – the British expanded coffee production into the forest a lot but at a huge cost – the exploitation of labour, but also an ecological cost to the landscape," she explains.

The Bengaluru of a century ago comes alive in these pages as the reader is transported to places that are familiar yet different. Nagendra explains her fascination with the period, nestled between two world wars and intimately associated with detective fiction from Agatha Christie's Poirot stories to Miss Marple, Sharadindu Bandyopadhyay's popular Byomkesh Bakshi series, and more. "The 1920s were a very interesting period in Bengaluru because while the rest of India was actively involved in the independence struggle, the Mysore Maharajas had a mediating influence here. While most books about the period have focused on Bombay, Delhi, and Kolkata, I wanted to talk about what it was like to live in Bengaluru at the time." she explains.

Nagendra also makes it a point to include real women from the time (such as journalist Kalyanamma) or characters inspired by real women, with Lakamma being based on 'coffee pudi' Sakamma, an influential businesswoman.

This, with Kaveri's independent, intelligent, and headstrong character, turns stereotypes of women of this period on its head. "A feminist discussion runs through the entire series because Kaveri is very strongly what we would call a feminist in these times. There were also a lot of independent women stepping out of the house for the first time in the 1920s," says Nagendra, adding that at the same time, many, like her mother, grandmother and mother-in-law, were denied higher education. For her, imagining a character like Kaveri is partly a way of setting history right.

Kaveri and her doctor husband Ramu's relationship, from a newly-wed couple to expectant parents, is a sweet and heartwarming thread in the series. Nagendra reveals that this loving yet nuanced depiction of an Indian arranged-married couple was a deliberate decision, keeping both her local and global readership in mind.

"There is often a feeling that Indian relationships are exploitative, always involving subjugation. I wanted to write about a regular but happy marriage of those times," says Nagendra, adding, "Ramu is a traditional man, raised in a traditional family, married to an independent woman whom he didn't really understand very well. But he wants to be supportive and over time, he understands her better, I've been enjoying seeing their relationship grow."

FLYLEAF
V R FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

On editors, the invisible architects

In a world that celebrates authors as solitary geniuses, the role of the editor remains largely invisible. A name tucked into acknowledgements, buried in footnotes, or sometimes not mentioned at all.

Yet anyone who has truly wrestled with the written word knows: behind every great book stands a quiet co-creator. Editors do more than fix grammar or polish style. They are critics, confidantes, coaches, and often, crisis managers.

They are the invisible architects of literature.

Take Maxwell Perkins, the legendary editor who shaped the careers and voices of giants of American literature such as F Scott Fitzgerald, Ernest Hemingway, and Thomas Wolfe. As Scott Berg's Pulitzer Prize-winning biography, Max Perkins: Editor of Genius (later adapted into the film Genius), brilliantly reveals, Perkins was more than an editor. He was a career counsellor, a therapist, a financial lifeline, and above all, a believer.

My own writing journey has been shaped by the steady, compassionate hands of remarkable editors. My wife, Deepali, was my first and fiercest critic. She was never afraid to tell me when something didn't work, but always with the faith that it could. She reminded me that writing, like any practice, demands repetition and resilience.

C K Meena, my co-author, wields her editorial scalpel with grace and precision. She taught me the value of brevity: that writing is not just about what to say, but what to leave out. And then there was Abhivyakti Singh at Hachette. Gentle yet unwavering. She believed in my voice even when I doubted it myself.

The work of great editors often hides in plain sight. Take Ursula Nordstrom, the visionary children's editor at Harper & Row. Her letters, compiled in Dear Genius, are a testament to editorial empathy. Alternately playful, firm, maternal, and fiercely protective, her correspondence with authors like Margaret Wise Brown, Maurice Sendak, and Shel Silverstein reveals a sacred trust.

Closer to home, Ramachandra Guha's The Cooking of Books offers a delightful glimpse into the Indian publishing ecosystem. Built around his irreverent and witty exchanges with the reclusive editor Rukun Advani, the book reminds us that editorial relationships are often marked by friction, pushback, and negotiation, but at their best, they are built on mutual trust.

Chiki Sarkar represents a new breed of editor – entrepreneurial, intuitive, and in tune with the digital generation. From her time leading Penguin India to founding Juggernaut Books, Sarkar has championed new voices and unconventional formats such as mobile-first literature.

One of the towering figures in modern publishing was Sonny Mehta. As the publisher of Knopf, Mehta was a soft-spoken force who balanced literary excellence with commercial appeal. He wasn't interested in trends but in truth. He guided the careers of Haruki Murakami, Michael Ondaatje, Toni Morrison, and countless others. Speaking of Nobel Laureate Toni Morrison, few know she was a trailblazing editor who championed Black voices at Random House long before the industry prioritised diversity.

Fewer still know that Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis lived a second life as an editor – a talented one, with a discerning eye – at Viking and Doubleday.

What connects unsung editors across the globe is their courage to say "not yet" when everyone else is saying "good enough". They listen, hearing what isn't yet said; they sense the story beneath the syntax and then reveal it. Their fingerprints may be invisible, but their impact is unmistakable. The rewards they seek are not fame or fortune but a line that sings, a paragraph that finally breathes. Their work is a labour of devotion – to the writer, to the reader, and most of all, to the story.

To all the invisible architects who shaped the books that shaped us – this is your story too. Thank you.

MY ENTIRE IDEA OF CINEMA CHANGED AFTER JOINING RAJ B SHETTY: JP THUMINAD

The director of Su from So, who is joined by the star cast—Shaneel Gowtham, Prakash Thuminad, and Mime Prasad— as they share how the horror comedy took shape, their experience working on the film, and producer Raj's role as a mentor through every step

A SHARADHAA

Stills from the film

Shaneel Gowtham

SULOCHANA from Someshwara (Su from So) begins with a whisper from the past, a familiar name from the coastal lanes, and a tale that straddles the worlds of the living and the dead. But for debutant director JP, Su from So is not merely a horror comedy, but a celebration of people, places, and timeless tales that drift through the village winds.

Backed by Raj B Shetty under Lighter Buddha Films, Su from So is a rooted, dramatic, and wildly comical Kannada film that carries within it a rare creative pulse. Featuring a cast filled with theatre veterans, including JP Thuminad, the director, Shaneel Gowtham, Prakash Thuminad, Mime Ramdas, Deepak Rai Panaje and Sandhya Arakere, the film blends folk wisdom, satire, and sentiment with a generous dose of absurdity.

"Being a theatre artist in Tulu theatre and cinema, I used to just coast along while watching and acting in films. But after joining Raj B Shetty during Ondu Motteya Kathe, my entire idea of cinema changed," says director JP. "With Raj, it is never about imitating. It is about watching people, observing life, and letting stories find you."

Most of the film's cast and spirit come from the coastal region as two active theatre teams serve as the base. "We were into theatre, and when I made my first short film in Tulu, I had a small team and was not fully prepared," recalls JP Thuminad, who is looking forward to the film's release on July 25. He adds, "But I realised that filmmaking is about actually doing things. With Raj, I also came to understand that it is never about the language, but always about what unfolds on the screen."

The director was determined to bring real characters onto the screen. "Except for a few, most actors are from the coastal region. We had 400 theatre artistes across two troupes, from which we selected seven to eight people who best fit the characters," he says. "We also auditioned extensively across Karnataka, and whoever matched the character got the role. Half the job is in casting, right?"

Shaneel Gowtham, who plays the lead, says, "This entire team is like a family. We have all worked together in Raj B Shetty's projects, especially Ondu Motteya Kathe. Except for Toby and Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye, we have been part of almost everything he has done. Raj anna saw our potential and gave us responsibility."

Shaneel's role in Su from So, Ravi Anna, left a lasting impression on the team. "Initially, the director had planned to adapt a novel, but when that did not work out, Su from So was born. Ravi Anna's character does not expect respect, but he receives it. He is loved by some and disliked by others in the village. There is depth, emotion, and contradiction in him."

"Even if someone asked me to do this role again, I could not. It is not me. But the director brought Ravi Anna to life. It was a once-in-a-lifetime role," says Shaneel.

The film features 30 primary characters and around 30 more in supporting roles. From an eight-year-old to a 92-year-old woman, every character has been treated with equal importance. "Even junior artistes have meaningful dialogues. No one is just standing in the frame," says JP.

Actor Prakash Thuminad, who plays Chandra, an auto driver, shares his personal connection with the director. "JP and I have known each other since childhood. Though there is an age gap, we have always been close. We were part of the same theatre troupe. He is deeply talented and knows how to blend theatre and cinema."

About his role, he adds, "Chandra is unlike anything I have done. The story itself is drawn from the coastal region – it is rooted, raw, and relatable. There was confusion at first about which role would fit me, but when I found Chandra, it just clicked. As an actor, I believe characters must drive the casting, not the other way around."

Mime Ramdas, who plays Yadu, a bank employee and the village intellectual, explains, "My character behaves differently. He wants people to listen to him, but he is still very much part of the village. The challenge was to capture that contrast; an educated man in a rural setup, surrounded by eccentric people."

At first glance, the genre may surprise some viewers. Su from So is a horror comedy, but as the team explains, it is not the typical jump-scare film. "Some incidents in life feel frightening in the moment, but days later, you laugh about them," says JP. "This genre gave us the space to reflect that. A person terrified of ghosts might become the one advising others not to fear. It is a strange human contradiction."

Was Su from So influenced by Raj B Shetty's Ondu Motteya Kathe? Shaneel clarifies, "Ondu Motteya Kathe had subtle humour. Su from So is exaggerated, almost caricatured. From posters to performance, we embraced the absurd. It is entertainment with a local flavour, and a thread of morality running through it."

Prakash notes the difference as well. "Personally, in Ondu Motteya Kathe, we had workshops and detailed preparation. This film did not require that. It did not need acting – it needed real presence."

JP Thuminad

The film also carries a tender subplot. "It is about elders who return after death to fulfil an unfulfilled wish. I grew up hearing such stories, and they stayed with me," says JP Thuminad, who admits that handling a massive cast was chaotic. "I had written scenes for 100 people. There are no junior artistes in our village, so we went door to door inviting people to act."

Among them was a 92-year-old woman who walked kilometres every day to be on set. "She had never seen a camera before, but she was so natural. I kept thinking she should have acted all her life."

Although Raj B Shetty did not direct this film, the team asserts that his influence was present throughout. "He wrote lyrics, backed us as a producer, and more importantly, guided us as a mentor," JP Thuminad shares.

"Our conversations with Raj were not always about cinema. They were about life, about how people behave and how stories unfold. That is the most valuable thing," he adds.

Shaneel calls him "Rajanna", a name that holds warmth and respect. "He is not just a filmmaker to us. He is the one who saw something in all of us. His production house gave us a platform, but more than that, we love him for the human being he is."

JP concludes, "We did not have much interaction with Rishab or Rakshit, but Raj has been with us from the beginning. All three Shettys have a great passion for cinema and support new voices. But for us, Raj is family."

As the team awaits the film's release, there is a quiet nervousness under their smiles. "What we created is one thing, but how people receive it is not in our hands," says JP as he concludes, "With mobile screens and constant content, audience judgment is swift. But we made this with sincerity and joy."

> We did nothave much interaction with Rishab Shetty or Rakshit Shetty , but Raj has been with us from the beginning. All three Shettys have a great passion for cinema andsupport new voices. But fupport new voices. But for us, Raj is family

S/o Muthanna will be my first release in seven and a half years: Pranam Devaraj

CE FEATURES

PRANAM Devaraj, son of veteran actor Devaraj, is gearing up for the release of S/O Muthanna on August 22. Directed by Srikanth Hunsur and backed by Puratana Films in association with SRK Films, the film pairs Pranam with Dia actor Kushee Ravi, and features Rangayana Raghu in a pivotal role.

Along with the official release date, the team also unveiled the film's second track, 'Midnightu Rastheyalli', composed by Sachin Basrur, and was sung live at the event by Sanjith Hegde. With lyrics by Yogaraj Bhat and choreography by Dhananjay Master, the team says the song has already struck a chord online.

The film explores a heartwarming father-son dynamic, with Rangayana Raghu and Pranam playing the emotional core. "The film has no fight scenes, and it is just a clean, rooted narrative," says Pranam, adding, "This is my first release in seven and a half years, and the journey has been worth it. Rangayana Raghu sir made every scene special."

Director Srikanth Hunsur shared that Devaraj was moved by the script. "He said the story felt honest, and after watching the film, he stood by that."

Kushee Ravi plays Dr Saakshi in the film. "This is my seventh film as a lead. While I'm getting work in other languages, I still crave more roles in Kannada," she said.

WHO LET THE DOG OUT?

Film: Dog on Trial (Le Procès du chien)

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

In this weekly column, the writer introduces you to powerful cinema from across the world

NAMRATA JOSHI

FRENCH-Swiss actress Laetitia Dosch's directorial debut, Dog on Trial, struck a chord not just because yours truly happens to be a dog lover, addicted to watching cute and emotional canine reels on social media, but the human-animal conflict at its core is the stuff of our contemporary urban Indian reality as well.

Although set in Switzerland, Dosch's film presents this evidently universal discord at its most absurd. Loosely inspired by a real-life legal proceeding in France against a dog who had been repeatedly biting strangers, it has Dosch herself playing the lead, lawyer Avril Lucciani, who has a knack for taking up hopeless causes. While victory in a case remains elusive, a partially sighted client, Dariuch Michovski (Francois Damiens), reaches out to her for defending his best friend and faithful companion, Cosmos (dog Kodi), whose life is at stake in the first canine trial since the Middle Ages. Avril has to rise up to the challenge or else Cosmos, having already bitten people three times, is liable to be put to sleep as per the country's law. As Avril says in the film, "everyone was fascinated by the case but nobody knew what to think".

The film played last year in the Un Certain Regard section of the Cannes Film Festival and won the coveted Palm Dog for the animal actor Kodi. It is indeed a terrific performance with Kodi traversing a gamut of emotions through the 80-odd minutes. He also keeps the film centred. His limpid, eloquent eyes, a turn of the head and eye rolls are enough to offer a precious perspective on the human farce surrounding him; with his silence and loud barks holding more meaning than words. The sense of human ludicrousness, however, is not spread smoothly and uniformly through the film. The tonal shifts, from the humorous to the heavy-handed, give a sense of unevenness to the storytelling at large. Apart from Avril and Cosmos, the other characters don't go beyond the sketchy or the stereotypical. Like Lorene (Anabela Moreira), the Portuguese cleaning lady who was bitten in the face by Cosmos. Her decision to keep and flaunt her scars rather than go for corrective surgery makes us want to know more. Her lawyer Rosaline (Anne Dorval) doesn't rise above being a caricature of an opportunistic aspiring politician, fanning people's fears for electoral gains. At times, too much seems to be happening on screen, and the sense of chaos, in turn, also comes to inhabit the audience's mind. A reason why the engagement with the goings-on on the screen stays inconsistent. It grips you at the start with its interesting premise, only to lose steam in the middle, to again invoke intermittent curiosity towards the end.

The confusion has to do with many issues jostling for attention, from the legal system to environmental crises, from gender to animal rights. More so, human insensitivity to other forms of life. There's even a passing acknowledgement by Avril of the fear of the far right. And an interplay of the ideas of wilderness, freedom and domesticity when it comes to both women and dogs. All of this needed to be mapped out more distinctly and sharply in the script to be impactful. There are some significant takeaways. Like how Swiss law objectifies the dog as a thing, rather than an individual entity. Indicative of how even a loving human-dog relationship is ultimately about how the dog serves the human. The casual misogyny Avril faces from her boss runs parallel with the absurdity of the charges of misogyny heaped on Cosmos, but leaves one befuddled than enlightened about the larger meaning. As does the parallel track of the physical abuse of Joachim, the child who lives next door to Avril. Then there's Avril's own sudden rage at the stranger in the traffic jam. Similar threads of violence that are not knit together in a satisfying pattern. Despite such density and weightiness of ideas, the hasty and confused execution makes Dog On Trial a minor film when it could have been a lot
